Welcome!

This week, we take a trip down memory lane, as EastEnders unveils its first Secrets From The Square episode, in which stars of the show look back on their time in Walford. Danny Dyer and Kellie Bright (Mick and Linda) are first up – and knowing these two, it's bound to be entertaining! However, I think I'm secretly more excited about the classic episodes we're going to enjoy. This week, we're taken back to where it all began, with the original power couple of the Queen Vic – Angie and Den!

"I'm excited to watch classic EastEnders..."

It'll be interesting to watch these episodes – many of which I haven't seen since their original transmission – and note how the characters have developed over the years, and how the Square itself has changed. But mainly I'll just be marvelling at how Kathy Beale can look younger now than in any of these classic episodes! Do let us know what you think of them – it's going to be a fun ride.

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

SHE MAKES HIM A VERY TEMPTING OFFER – BUT WILL HE ACCEPT?

David's prayers are answered this week, when Shona returns to the cobbles properly to live with Roy.

There is still a huge mountain to climb in terms of Shona remembering the life that she shared with David, and he knows that the chances of them reconciling are slim at this stage. So, imagine David's stunned reaction when Shona suddenly throws herself at him – and suggests that they sleep together!

"She thinks jumping David's bones will help jog her memory," cringes star Julia Goulding, who plays Shona. "Obviously 'doing it' is a very personal and intimate thing, and she is willing to try anything that will help her to remember."

For David, though, Shona's behaviour is a side to his wife's personality that he doesn't recognise – and he's confronted with it from the moment she arrives at Roy's.

Accompanying Shona is her new care worker, Aaron, who is there to explain to Roy that her rehabilitation relies on routine. Yet when David calls round to drop off some magazines, he feels instantly threatened by Aaron.

"Shona takes a shine to Aaron," explains Jack P Shepherd, who plays David, taking up the story. "Meanwhile, David is thinking, 'Get lost, mate!' He's a bit annoyed."

David isn't prepared to give up so easily, though, and realises that if he and Shona are going to fall back in love again, they need to start from scratch.

With that, David invites Shona out for something to eat and they end up in the chippie – where Shona sneakily pickpockets Ray’s wallet. The moment means nothing to Shona, but for David, it serves as replay of the moment they first met, when Shona stole from him!

“David starts laughing, and Shona thinks he’s mocking her and storms off,” grins Jack. “So, David catches up with her later and explains ‘No, that is how we met – you stole my wallet!’”

“Which then prompts Shona to say: ‘What possessed you to ever get with me?’” chips in Julia. “It is funny.”

After spending time with David, Shona asks more questions about their relationship, and turns to Gemma for advice. Both women originated from the same estate, so Gemma is actually one of the few people who can help Shona to remember how she came to swap her old life for Weatherfield and David.

However, after Gemma waxes lyrical to Shona about how the Platts were so great together as a couple, Shona invites David over to the flat – and that’s when she pounces!

“If my wife didn’t remember our life together and then was suddenly all over me, I think as a red-blooded male, I’d be all over that!” jokes Jack.

“However, David’s reaction is to say, ‘No, if we’re going to do it, we’re going to do it when you remember and when you’re ready’. He’s basically saying, ‘I’m not a piece of meat, Shona!’”

“David is just being sensible,” adds Julia. “She’s not herself at the moment, and he knows that he’d be taking advantage.”

But will David’s rejection shatter the small progress the couple have made?

Ellis and Al have an opportunity to reconnect

EMMERDALE | ITV WEDNESDAY

Marlon & Al in lockdown hell!

ELLIS IS TRAPPED WITH TWO DADS AT WAR...

Enemies Marlon and Al are forced to face up to their failings as dads this week, after being thrown into lockdown together by Ellis.

Having to isolate away from children April and Leo following a coronavirus scare, Marlon is already struggling. So, when Ellis asks Al – who has nowhere else to go – to join them at Tall Trees, he's not exactly thrilled! Marlon blames Al for destroying his marriage to Jessie, while Al thinks Marlon is an overwrought muppet. And it's left to poor Ellis to referee as the two men face an extended period of lockdown together...

"Marlon is incandescent with rage – he loathes Al," explains Mark Charnock, who plays the angry bloke. "He's astounded that Ellis would think this is okay. He wants Al to get out, but Ellis tells him that if Al goes, he goes too."

Marlon doesn't want Ellis to leave, so he has to let Al stay. Under the same roof, Al and Ellis have a chance to build bridges, and try to mend their relationship. But as they explore

Marlon is given plenty of food for thought about being a good father

“Marlon really messes up – Rhona is furious with him...” MARK

Rhona is left furious by Marlon's actions and their effect on little Leo

“We’ll learn more about Al”

Michael Wildman on Al’s lockdown ep...

Since he arrived in Emmerdale, Al has played his cards very close to his chest, so actor Michael Wildman – who plays Al – is delighted we’re getting to spend this episode with him.

“We do learn more about Al,” he says. “Any insight into Al is always exciting and helpful for me. We don’t know much about his background, so it’s intriguing because I can play him either way!”

“Our episode is about fatherhood, and it’s incredibly clever and well-written,” continues Michael. “Strange things happen throughout. The experience could help Al try to be a better person, but whether he can do that, we’ll just have to wait and see!”

“I jumped at the chance to get back to work – I was starting to get itchy after eight weeks of lockdown,” grins the actor. “Isolating and its challenges are things we’re all going through, so Emmerdale is really reflecting real life!”

their history, yet more harsh truths come to light.

“I don’t think anyone really knows Al,” says Aaron Anthony, who plays Ellis. “With Ellis, it seems as if every time they start to get close, his dad lets him down, and then Ellis shuts down to protect himself. The lockdown is like fate stepping in – it might just force them to have those hard conversations.”

As Ellis and Al grapple with their issues, Marlon makes a big mistake of his own. Missing his children so much, he goes to Rhona’s place and waves at Leo through the window. It’s meant well, but it’s a big error of judgement, and Marlon is crushed by the consequences.

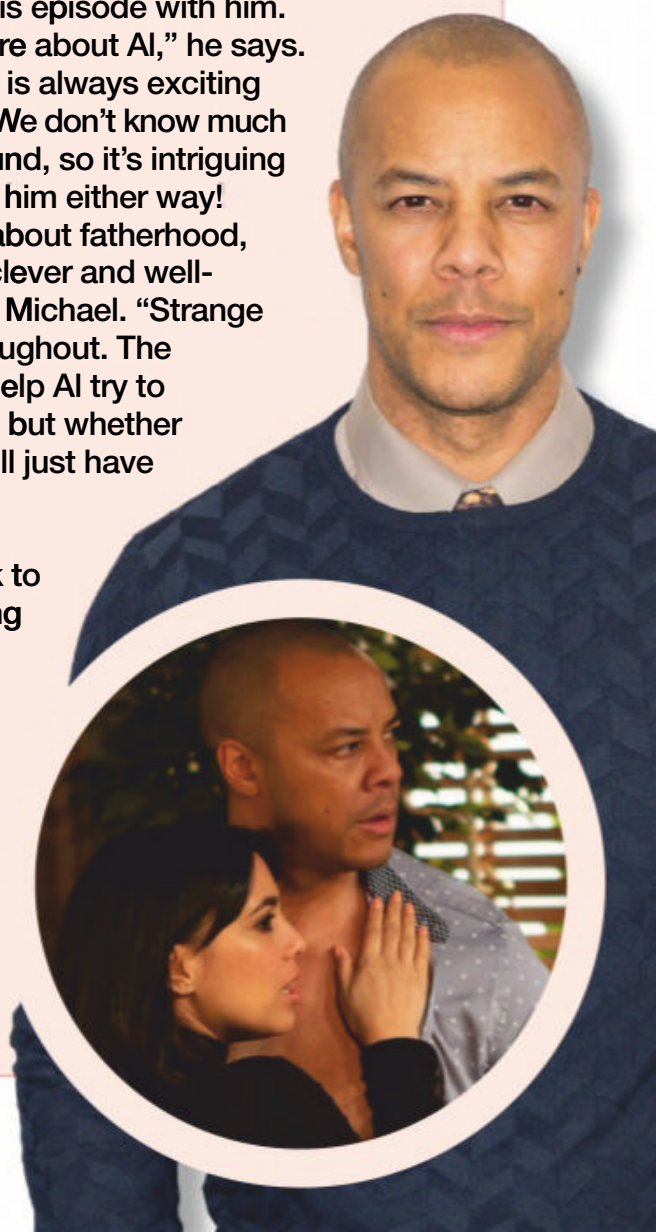

“Marlon really messes up,” explains Mark. “One Thursday night after clapping for carers, he gets carried away and goes into the village to wave at Leo. Leo doesn’t understand why Marlon won’t come into the house, and kicks off at his mum. Rhona is furious with Marlon, and he’s devastated he made the mistake. It breaks his heart.”

Returning to Tall Trees, Marlon is greeted by Ellis and Al, and the tension between the men starts to dissipate. Mark thinks the experience could change relationships forever...

“This episode is about the complexities of fatherhood,” he shares. “It shows a thawing of this mutual distrust, and it shows the compromises you have to make as a human being to get through a crisis.”

Are Sid and Juliet about to be rumbled by PC Kiss?

George takes the chance to catch up with John Paul

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 TUESDAY

PC Kiss raids the school!

WILL SID AND JULIET GET BUSTED FOR SELLING DRUGS?

PC George Kiss gets serious about nailing the drug dealers at Hollyoaks High this week – and brings in the sniffer dogs!

It's clear to both police and teachers there is a serious drug problem in the school, yet so far George has been unable to uncover any hard evidence to prove it. So will his latest attempts to catch the culprits be successful?

"George's number-one priority is trying to help these kids before it goes too far," reveals Callum Kerr, who plays the copper. "He knows this could kick-start a life of crime, so he wants to nip it in the bud before things get too serious. He also wants to save the kids from the more dangerous people they're working for – and he hopes they will eventually lead him to the big drugs boss."

Viewers are well aware that it's actually Sid and Juliet who are trading pills at the school, on behalf of Sid's cousin Jordan. As the Hollyoaks High environmental fair kicks off this week, Jordan reckons it's the perfect time to get more sales, and presses his young sidekicks to push their wares. Little do they realise that PC Kiss has his eye on them.

"George previously caught Juliet at another school, and found a large amount of cash on her when he arrested her," Callum reminds us. "That's the key sign that a kid has been selling drugs – but in that instance, her brother James got her off the charges. George definitely still has his suspicions about her, though."

While Juliet successfully manages to shift all of her goods, Sid fails to get rid of his – and Juliet offers to store them in her locker overnight.

“George's priority is trying to help these kids before it goes too far”

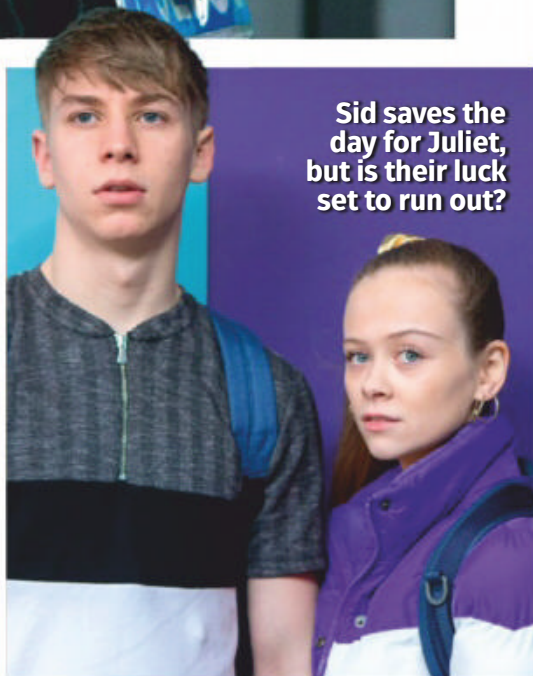

The teachers at Hollyoaks High are unaware of what's going on under their noses of them make a lovely couple – and we're not the only ones...

"I think they're a really good match, and the viewers seem to be enjoying it, too," Callum tells us. "Some people have said they'd prefer JP to be with James – and some have said that they would prefer George to be with James! The viewers just seem keen for a good old-fashioned love triangle, which is fine with me. James and John Paul are both great characters, so I'm excited to see where the writers are going to go with this..."

Sarah Ellis

Sid saves the day for Juliet, but is their luck set to run out?

However, when George arrives with a sniffer dog to search the school the following day, Juliet's locker is the first one he heads for.

"He's definitely expecting to find something in there – and Juliet is expecting him to as well!" declares Callum. "But luckily for Juliet, Sid has saved the day – he's taken the drugs out of Juliet's locker before the police are able to find them. It frustrates George that he's not having much luck in cracking this case, although it's all about to get a whole lot more intense!"

It's not been an entirely wasted trip for George, though, as at least he gets to spend some time with his new love interest, John Paul, and ask him out on another date. Inside Soap thinks the two Callum hints he could have skeletons...

So far, we like what we've seen of PC George Kiss – but how much do we really know about him? John Paul is only just getting acquainted with his new beau, and Callum reckons there could be a lot more to his alter ego than meets the eye...

"I think more will come out during his chats with John Paul," he teases. "I'm sure there's a lot to his past than we know. People don't tend to become police officers for no reason – often it's because of something bad that happened in their past where they felt helpless, or were bullied. So I'm looking forward to delving into George's backstory a bit more, and peeling back the layers as his relationship with JP blossoms."

INSIDE Gossip

Laura-Jayne snoops behind the big soap headlines...

CORONATION STREET

Stars Jane Danson and Ben Price discuss their return to Corrie – and the fate of little Oliver...

It’s business as usual back on the famous cobbles – albeit with a few differences – as production gets under way at Corrie again!

The soap has come out fighting against the coronavirus crisis with some ambitious stories planned (see right for our quick-fire Q&A with boss Iain MacLeod). And as two of the first actors to step on set after almost three months in lockdown, Ben Price and Jane Danson – who play Nick and Leanne – are thrilled to be leading the charge, and reveal that the drama is in no way over for Nick and Leanne...

“C’mon, Corrie!” whoops Ben, as Inside Soap joins the pair for a virtual press conference on their return to work. “It feels fantastic to be back. The first scenes that Jane and I shot almost felt like doing a big Corrie ‘live’, like we’ve done in the past. We were nervous and there was relief after we’d done it! It was lovely.”

“At the end of the day, the director said, ‘That’s a wrap’, and there was a round of applause – which rarely happens, only if someone is leaving or going off to have a baby,” adds Jane. “So that was quite emotional that we were the first ones back to get the ball rolling again.”

THE STORY GOES ON...

But what about the drama? Nick and Leanne are at the heart of a huge plot in which her son, Oliver, is believed to have mitochondrial disease. This week, we’ll see Leanne thrilled after Oliver responds well to a family day out, but her loved ones still fear she’s clinging on to false hope. The stars tell us that while the plot has had to be tweaked to accommodate filming, the emotion is still there.

And although the young actors who play Oliver can’t yet return to work, the show will focus on the adults, and how their relationships are tested.

The stars keep their distance on the cobbles

CORONATION STREET

“We’re planning a car crash!”

Corrie boss Iain MacLeod teases a huge autumn...

Hello, Iain! Firstly, are we going to see Covid-19 in Weatherfield?

We had some episodes that were written and mostly filmed before the pandemic, so in remaining scenes that we’re completing now there will be no mention of it in the scripts. Then, almost like flipping a switch, episodes from 24 July will acknowledge the disease with a light touch. Plots won’t be dominated by it.

We are embarking on our first post-pandemic stunt, which is a car accident! It’s two people in jeopardy, and it will look as if a character is knocked down in front of a vehicle, when in fact there will be no proximity between performers or stunt artists. There is a lot of thought going on as to how we achieve a very difficult scene with some camera trickery!

Are there any storylines that you won’t pick up as a result of social distancing?

We had one particular story which would have climaxed during the Britain’s Got Talent live finals week [Iain previously told us that Gary’s story would come to a head then]. Rather than do a half-cooked version – as it required filming on location – we elected to push the big centrepiece of the drama to later in the year when we’re able to go at it full beans.

What new stories do you have planned?

Are your plans for Corrie’s 60th birthday still on track?

We had to strip out the ‘Hollywood spectacular’ elements as we didn’t have time to build what was originally planned. Beneath that is a strong community story – which we’ve seen a resurgence of during lockdown – and we have a huge human-interest plot which emerges from something on screen now. We even have a classic salacious love triangle! If we lock down again, they’ll just transmit later. But I am confident we can have some classic Corrie episodes for the anniversary and Christmas.

We’ll see how Oliver’s condition affects the adults around him

The Corrie crew are well equipped to stay safe

“The drama is there, and the writing is excellent,” says Ben. “I don’t think you lose a lot really – when we’re around that bed, because you’re adults talking about a child who is very ill, it’s watered down and there’s a lot that can’t be said. The scenes are more interesting between Nick and Leanne speaking from their heart. It’s just different, not worse...”

“The only bit that was slightly difficult was that these scenes are incredibly touching and, really, in my heart as Nick, I wanted to give Leanne a hug,” explains Ben. “At the moment, that is impossible!”

EMMERDALE

MURDER IN THE DALES!

Who dies in the soap's new killer plot?

Emmerdale is not hanging about in terms of gripping drama poised to hit our screens, now that filming of its regular stories has recommenced!

The village folk look set to prove that not even a global pandemic can keep a good soap down, with whispers suggesting that bosses are bringing out the big guns and preparing to wow viewers with a grisly murder plot...

"In terms of all the normal stuff that goes on in soap, people kissing or killing each other, we'll have to socially distance them," explains ITV soap director John Whiston, referring to the new safety protocols on set for Covid-19. "We did actually have a murder coming up in Emmerdale quite soon!"

Emmerdale executive producer Jane Hudson explained recently that the show's writers and directors are finding new ways of portraying fight scenes that don't involve actors having to get close physically, as per the UK's two-metre rule. So, if chiefs do decide to pull the trigger – from a distance – on the sensational new story, which characters might be in the murdering mood?

CAIN & MALONE

Dirty detective Malone is a dangerous and volatile man who'll do whatever it takes to cover his tracks. He could kill in order to keep his secrets – but what if one of his many enemies turns on him first?

"Cain wants Malone gone, and so does Billy," moots our Dales insider. "And if Will – who suffered a vicious beating at the hands of Malone's thugs – finds out about fiancée Harriet's fling with his old foe, all hell could break loose..."

KIM & ANDREA

Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned – and vengeful Andrea could be out for blood as her revenge against cheating Jamie and Belle continues to take shape.

"With just one thoughtful look as she sat plotting in her secret hotel room, we sense that Andrea is not quite finished making the pair pay," suggests our insider. "But what if Jamie's ruthless mother Kim – whom we know has hitmen on speed dial – decides to get rid of Andrea in order to defend her son? Or perhaps even Belle, the Dingle homewrecker whom Kim totally despises?"

Stay tuned as we bring you more details when they unfold...

Could one of these two come a cropper?

Kim has no trouble bumping off her enemies

SO LONG, LISA!

Rachel Adedeji quits Hollyoaks...

While the good news is that Hollyoaks bosses have confirmed cast and crew will return to set in July, the bad news is that Rachel Adedeji has quit the role of Lisa Loveday.

The actress recently raised concerns about a series of racial incidents said to have taken place backstage on the soap.

"Rachel made the decision to pursue other opportunities earlier last year, which saddened us as at Hollyoaks – she is one of the leading cast members in the show," says a village spokesperson. "The notice period did allow the writers time to give Lisa an extremely gripping exit storyline. Viewers will be able to see this story play out later this year, as her final episodes were shot before lockdown."

Lime Pictures, the production company behind Hollyoaks, has since released the following statement with a detailed action plan of how they intend to respond to the allegations that Rachel made on social media – some of which were backed up by former cast members...

"Hollyoaks has been deeply shocked and saddened by issues that have been brought to our attention," explains a spokesperson. "Lime Pictures strives to have zero tolerance of racism or any form of discrimination across all of its shows, but it is clear that we have further work to do."

Lisa will be bowing out in dramatic fashion

EMMERDALE

"WE'RE NOT DUMMIES!"

Dales bosses hit back at EXTRA-ordinary rumours...

With Emmerdale clearly embracing some of the bigger challenges that come with producing a soap under the current government guidelines, boss Jane Hudson has been forced to quash ideas that the soap could temporarily replace village extras with mannequins, as a means of aiding social distancing on set!

"I just think it's quite insulting to supporting artists – to say that a mannequin can do your job," she says, following reports that New Zealand soap Shortland Street was considering using dummies to fake crowded scenes. "Our sets aren't that big, so if we were to put a mannequin back there, you'd be able to tell. Knowing our luck, an arm will end up falling off. There will be none of that!"

THE QUEEN VIC

Windows are going in – but which landlady will gaze out of them when they appear on screen?

BUILT TO LAST

Whereas much of the original Square is fake frontage, the new houses are real brick.

EASTENDERS

THE ALL-NEW ALBERT SQUARE TAKES SHAPE!

The BBC commits to a long future for EastEnders...

Construction on the controversial new EastEnders set is coming on apace, as you can see in this revealing aerial shot – which we're printing nice and big so you can take a good nosy around!

The first thing you'll notice is how lovely and clean it all is. That's because the new set will have to be 'dirtied-down' to match the grungy look of the supposedly Victorian Albert Square. The irony is that set builders will count the project a success if viewers don't notice anything has changed at all!

So why construct a new Square? Well, the original is more than 35 years old and coming apart at the seams. And a new set will pack in the sort of extra detail needed by modern filming methods.

However, after costs spiralled – due in part to the discovery of asbestos on the site – questions were asked in parliament about the management of the project. But the BBC insisted that the expenditure was vital to secure the future of one of their flagship programmes.

Rumours are circulating as to the fate of the 'old' set. There have been suggestions that it could be made accessible to visitors, or else bulldozed to allow the building of new areas of Walford.

An aerial photograph of a large-scale construction site for a soap opera set. The scene shows several multi-story buildings under construction, with some featuring brickwork and others with scaffolding. A central courtyard area is being dug out, surrounded by construction barriers and workers. In the background, a residential neighborhood is visible, providing a realistic backdrop for the set. The image is overlaid with several red circular callouts containing text about the construction progress.

POWER LINES

CGI trains run over the bridges – which in real life carry electrical cabling across the set.

THE OLD WALFORD

Keen eyes will spy the current set on the other side of the BBC Elstree complex.

BRIDGE STREET

The laundrette and Minute Mart are still just empty shells at the moment.

THE SQUARE

It's being dug out ready for planting – even the bushes will have to match the original.

BACK GARDENS

We look forward to the Slaters pretending their new gardens have always been there!

“What have you done?”

AS CARLA HEARS SOME SHOCKING NEWS, SHE MAKES AN ACCUSATION...

Worried Carla confronts Peter this week, and accuses him of being behind the violent attack that has been carried out on her tormentors Jordan and Chelsey.

Following the humiliating altercation at the Rovers, Carla is dreading what the pair – who Carla met during her psychosis last year – will do next, but soon discovers their fate. An article in the Weatherfield Gazette reveals that a vicious assault took place on the Brightwell Estate, and that Jordan and Chelsey were the victims. Convinced that their attacker was Peter, Carla demands the truth.

“Carla is terrified that Peter has gone too far this time, and his actions will stir up a hornets’ nest,” explains our Street spy. “She knows he’s horrified and fearful about what happened when she was in that squat, but violence isn’t the answer. Yet there’s a twist in this tale...”

Carla’s confrontation doesn’t go the way she expects when Peter denies everything. Peter was at an AA meeting at the time of the assault, and Carla’s stunned to realise she’s got it wrong. But the question is, who did hurt the troublemakers?

It was Scott and Abi who stood by Carla after Jordan and Chelsey caused merry hell at the Rovers. When Carla goes to thank Scott, he insists it’s Abi who did the lion’s share of the work and deserves praise for her actions. Carla finds Abi and gives her a bottle of wine to say thanks, and Abi tells her that they both have pasts they’d rather forget. However, has one of Carla’s friends gone above and beyond?

“Carla and Abi’s solidarity is great to see, especially given their connections to Peter,”

“Carla is terrified that Peter’s actions will stir up a hornets’ nest...”

Will Chelsey set her sights on revenge against Carla?

shares our insider. "The past has certainly come back to haunt the pair of them, and there are clearly skeletons in Scott's cupboard too. Abi has proved that she's capable of violence, and we know Johnny is living in fear of Scott. So, perhaps there ought to be a few more people that Carla should be adding to her list of suspects..."

COURTNEY ACT TEACHES THE LOCALS A THING OR TWO ABOUT THE ART OF DRAG...

Erinsbrough is awash with rainbows this week, as Lassiters throws its inaugural Pride celebration! Topping the bill is drag star Courtney Act, whom Aaron and David bumped into at Sydney Mardi Gras earlier in the year. We grilled performer Shane Jenek – aka Courtney – about making a return to the show...

Hi, Shanel! How does it feel to be back in Neighbours?

It is so exciting to be back, and to have actual acting to do and lines to learn! Last time I was on Neighbours, it was just a little cameo, so to actually be in Erinsborough, at Lassiters, was really cool.

What can you tease about your storyline?

I come to Lassiters to perform at Pride, and I have a business proposal for Paul Robinson. However, he doesn't realise that Shane and Courtney are the same person, and is quite dismissive of Shane – but later panders to Courtney!

What was it like working with everyone in the cast?

So much fun! I got to meet icons like Stefan Dennis [Paul], and the amazing Colette Mann [Sheila] – she was an absolute delight to work with. But everyone on the set was so supportive and encouraging. I'm not a professional actor like them, so I was humbled by how gracious and supportive everybody was.

to record the Neighbours theme song! It's actually very hard to fathom how exciting that is.

Fletch goes under the knife!

WILL SURGERY TO REMOVE HIS CANCER BE SUCCESSFUL?

HOLBY CITY | BBC1 TUESDAY

Fletch fears for his future this week, as he prepares for an operation in the wake of being diagnosed with prostate cancer.

However, the procedure is thrown into jeopardy after Fletch's daughter Evie turns up on the ward and drops a bombshell on her dad – prompting him to consider ditching his surgery...

"Fletch arrives for work as if it's just another normal day," explains our Holby source. "What's more, he has told his kids that he and Ange are escaping on a romantic break to Paris for a couple of nights, when really he's preparing to check into nearby hospital St James' for his op! So, Fletch is not being honest with them or himself about what lies ahead, and poor Evie is none the wiser when she arrives on the ward."

News of her dad's 'trip' is what prompts Evie to confront Fletch at work. The fact he is a single parent who works long hours continues to be a struggle, and teenage Evie is sick of being relied upon as a babysitter for younger siblings Mikey and Ella.

And that's not all – as Evie goes on to reveal that she is falling behind at school, and is considering dropping out!

"Fletch feels as though he's let the children down again, and tells Evie that he won't go to 'Paris' so that he can stay to help her smooth things over with her teachers," reveals our insider. "Of course, what Fletch really means is that

"Fletch makes plans, should the worst happen..."

he'll cancel his surgery!" After Essie – who is also undergoing treatment for cancer – realises the severity of what Fletch is proposing, she takes Evie aside for a heart-to-heart. Her intervention helps, and Fletch is encouraged to finally tell his daughter the truth about his illness.

Essie sits down to talk to struggling teenager Evie

Thanks to Essie, Fletch finds the strength to tell Evie he has cancer

Yet when word reaches the team that St James' has been forced to cancel Fletch's procedure due to a staffing crisis, Hanssen steps into the breach and scrubs in with Essie to help another surgeon treat Fletch at Holby.

"The ideal scenario is for the tumour to be removed in its entirety – but Hanssen won't know Fletch's prognosis until they open him up," shares our spy. "Fletch is naturally worried about what the future holds, and asks Jac and Sacha to look after his kids if the worst should happen."

After Fletch is wheeled into the operating theatre, Essie struggles to stay strong. Can she hold it together for them both?

Your soap story Wish list!

"During social distancing, the soaps need to make more use of the stars who are in real-life relationships. So that's Corrie's Abi and Tim having an affair, and Emmerdale's Pollard and Brenda getting together!"

...says reader Sam from Leeds

"When EastEnders comes back, it should follow Stacey as she returns and slowly learns what's been going on in her absence – it would be a great way to update viewers, too."

...suggests reader Anjili

"I think one of the soaps should be bold enough to do a Bobby Ewing-style shower scene, where the characters wake up and realise 2020 was all just a bad dream. (I wish this for real life too!)"

...pleads reader Anna from Doncaster

"Corrie's Adam is wasted in that poky lawyer's cupboard. It's boring. He should be in the factory, like his dad Mike Baldwin, flirting with the girls and cutting deals. It'd be much more fun."

Daniel has been struggling as a single dad after losing his wife Sinead

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

Daniel's guilty pleasure!

HE SPENDS THE EVENING WITH NICKY...

Daniel meets up with Nicky again this week, but instead of spending the night with her, he tells her all about his history with Sinead...

The lonely father-of-one first met Nicky at Adam's swanky lawyers' drinks reception. When Daniel was clearly feeling uncomfortable, Nicky put him at ease, and the pair quickly hit it off – but he was shocked to discover later that evening that Nicky is a sex worker! Despite this, Daniel calls her up this week, and arranges to see her again at a hotel.

“Even though Daniel spent the night with Nicky before, their second meeting isn't like that,” reveals our Weatherfield insider. “Initially, Daniel panics he might have made a mistake by seeing Nicky again. But he quickly opens up to her about his relationship with Sinead and how much he's struggling with being alone. It's not what Nicky signed up for, but to Daniel she's someone who doesn't know his history, and he finds it easy to be honest with her.”

Since Daniel returned from his trip to Scotland with baby Bertie, he's felt excluded from his friends. But it was Adam who was determined to get Daniel out of the house, and so invited him to his work's reception. However, Adam is increasingly concerned about Daniel, who has lied to him about his whereabouts on the night. And when Adam spots Daniel in the corner shop buying alcohol, his worry grows.

"Daniel feels guilty about lying to Adam," shares our sneak. "Obviously, Daniel told him that he and Nicky went their separate ways after the drinks, when they actually spent the night together! Adam seems to have an inkling that something's wrong, though. He worries Daniel might be on a downward spiral again and, to be honest, he might be right."

Daniel's last relationship – with Bethany – ended badly for him. But while he's still finding it hard to cope with the loss of Sinead, will Daniel's new ally Nicky help him get back to his old self, or only bring him down?

Jasmine wants to leave!

HOME AND AWAY
Channel 5 TUESDAY

Jasmine is feeling concerned that everyone has turned their backs on her this week, following her strange behaviour with Grace and Colby...

Jasmine approaches Colby after their drunken kiss, but is taken aback when he warns her to stay away from him! Believing his rejection to be entirely her fault, Jasmine is left blaming herself. So, when Tori checks in on her later,

Can her friends stop her in time?

Jasmine shockingly reveals that she's planning to leave Summer Bay!

Tori does her best to convince Jasmine that she's there for her, but unfortunately, her words fall on deaf ears. However, when Irene later talks to Jasmine, she's the one who manages to get through to her, explaining how Jasmine needs to respect the fact that Tori is Grace's mother, not her.

As Tori and Marilyn sit down with Jasmine to talk about her actions around Grace, will it be enough to persuade Jasmine to stick around?

Can Marilyn's words convince Jasmine to stay?

Will Emma prevent Seb and Alina from getting back together?

CORONATION STREET
ITV MONDAY

Seb finally admits that he still has feelings for his former girlfriend Alina this week, but will her friendship with his most recent ex, Emma, scupper his plans to win her back?

It was Seb's conflicted feelings for Alina that led to his break-up with Emma. However, since becoming a free agent, he has yet to make any moves to reconnect with Alina. And now, as he finally plucks up the courage to tell her how he feels, the moment is interrupted when Emma arrives at the flat.

Later, Alina admits to Seb that she feels the same way, too – although she insists they can only be friends, as she doesn't want to upset her pal.

With that in mind, Seb and Alina agree to meet for a drink as mates. But after spending more time together, can the pair keep their relationship to strictly friends?

ZAK BRINGS HOME MORE THAN JUST THE BACON, AND THERE'S TRAGEDY IN STORE FOR LITTLE ANDY...

This can't be hygienic

The Goddess of Fate and Destiny works her magic again this week – with a little help from the Emmerdale casting and storyline departments – when Zak Dingle crosses paths with fragrant pig-farming motor mechanic Lisa Clegg.

Zak, of course, is instantly smitten, and invites Lisa to join him at Singles' Night at the wine bar. They arrive just as Mandy is shaking her moneymaker while up on the tables – in a characteristic attempt to spark the evening to life. So at least no one can say that Lisa doesn't know what she's getting into with the Dingle family. Soon, lovelorn Zak is parking his van downwind of Lisa's pig farm, just so he can get a good whiff of her Saddlebacks. Truly, 'tis the start of the greatest love affair since Cleopatra invited Mark Anthony upstairs to play with her asp.

TOUCH WOODS

With Viv and Vic's marriage foundering – there's another row about Scott this week – Viv finds herself going down to the woods once again. Terry Woods, that is. Quite what livewire Viv sees in the joy-sucking charisma vacuum that is our Tel is anyone's guess. As she melts into his embrace, she wonders aloud whether she's just another notch on his unaccountably well-whittled bedpost. As the days pass, Viv struggles to keep away from Terry, but they are forced together to give dance lessons at the Holiday Village. Will Vic clock that his wife and pal have a fresh spring in their step?

We're sure they'll all be very happy together

HOME AN A WAIF

Little Andy shows his little pudding bowl head up at Emmerdale Farm again this week. His gran has fallen asleep, he tells Jack, and Andy can't seem to rouse her. Jack and Sarah suspect she's blind drunk again, and drive over to Leeds to check, but it's soon clear that Granny Hopwood won't be waking up any time soon. And when no one attends the funeral, what will become of poor Andy?

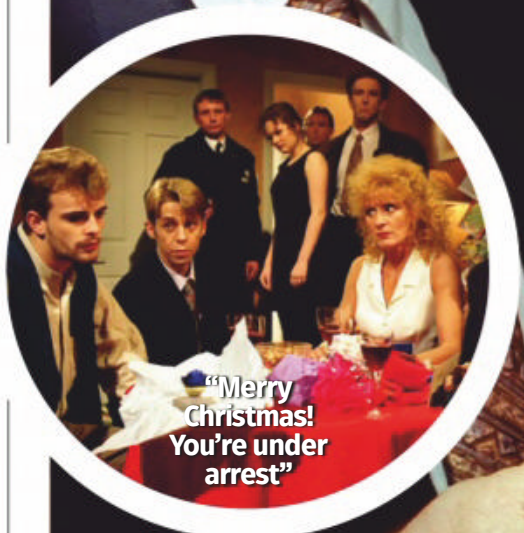

Kim's a WINNER!

The first ever Inside Soap Awards were held in the summer of 1996, and here's Kim Tate star Claire King looking absolutely thrilled with her shonky-looking Best Plot award – for her side of the Kim-Frank-Dave love triangle. We're certain it still takes pride of place on her mantelpiece to this day.

"Merry Christmas! You're under arrest"

Christmas comes to Weatherfield this week, and Steve is enjoying playing Santa (well, if Santa had a ratty moustache and a wardrobe from Fosters For Men) by giving out bottles of stolen whisky willy-nilly. It's all good fun until the police arrest and caution him, and then turn up to search the McDonalds' on Christmas Day. You can imagine Liz's reaction.

Meanwhile, Norris gets drunk on his stag night, and reveals to Derek that he was behind the kidnap of Arthur, the fishing gnome. This throws Derek into a fury about the months of hell he's suffered. Can he resist taking his revenge on Norris' wedding day? (Spoiler: nope!)

REAL PROBLEMS

I can't say it was too much fun to watch Aaron and Cain constantly talk about relationships in Emmerdale. But I'm glad the show is tackling the true problems of being stuck in lockdown – such as complete boredom, and feeling angry when you lose a game for the millionth time!

🗨️ | Joseph, Bath

IAN'S NIGHTMARE

Wouldn't it be really funny if Dotty and Peter ended up eloping in EastEnders? That would make Dotty a member of the Beales, and she'd be part of Ian's life forever! It would be so funny to have her torturing him just by being in the house with his family all the time.

🗨️ | Sophia, Exeter

It would be hysterical for Dotty to waltz into Ian's home and settle down with Peter!

GOSSIP QUEENS

It's sweet that everybody is concerned about Jasmine, but gossip in Summer Bay spreads like wildfire. Soon enough, everybody knows your business – especially if you talk to someone who works in the Diner. I'd fear spilling a secret – within a day, everyone would be talking about it!

Ian should thank his lucky stars Dotty is still yet to expose him

🗨️ | Ellie, Newport

That's what happens when you live in a really tiny town.

Will Adam put Gary in the nick for killing Rick?

NEARING THE END?

Now that Gary and Adam are both talking to Kelly's mum, Laura, in Corrie, surely it's just a matter of time until the truth about Rick comes out? I think everyone should see Gary for who he really is! Geoff isn't the only criminal living among them...

🗨️ | Owen, Sheffield

I think this will be a slow burner – Gary has a lot more damage to do!

GOING GOOEY EYED

I'm living for Naomi in Neighbours! It's obvious that she's head over heels for Pierce, and it makes me chuckle every time she pulls an over-the-top facial expression, stares at his abs, or tries to avoid being around him.

🗨️ | Hayley
Chloe needs to watch out – Naomi has a history of man stealing!

There's no Gray area
– he's a wrong'un!

KISS AND TELL

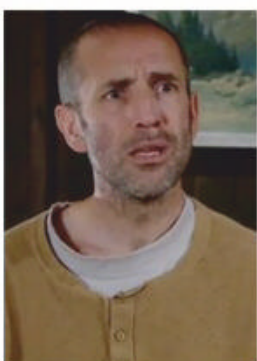

It's very ironic, considering Whitney's track record with guys, that she's going after yet another abusive husband in EastEnders. Whitney is always attracted to bad boys – and when I say bad boys, I mean criminals!

👤 | Nicole, Cambridge

Whit needs to steer clear from Gray – he's a terrible person!

LOCKDOWN ANTICS

I just want to say a massive well done to Emmerdale on its lockdown episodes. Sam and Lydia were the perfect couple to start off these special shows. James Hooton [aka Sam] has been very underrated and underused in his years on Emmerdale, but this was his moment to shine – and he did!

👤 | Mitch

Exploring life in lockdown is very different from the usual drama-filled episodes.

MONEY TROUBLES

It's sad that Dev in Coronation Street feels as though he has to send his kids into private school to be happy. Dev's getting himself into huge amounts of debt, despite the fact that if he had left Asha to sort out her own problems, I think she would be fine. Kids are much more resilient than we realise...

👤 | Jade, Wiltshire

Asha's a strong girl – she really showed up Corey in front of his friends!

The BIG DEBATE

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

KYLE'S SAD GOODBYE

Hollyoaks broke our hearts this week, with the devastating episode showing Kyle's last day battling depression, before ending his own life – and it certainly had an impact on viewers...

Adam Rickitt deserves an award for his performance as Kyle! He's been on a huge journey for the past three years, and it's been really awful to watch him lose his battle with depression.

👤 | Izzy, Burnley

Depression destroys lives, and not just Kyle's. Obviously Darren is suffering, but how on earth are Nancy, Charlie and Oscar going to cope? And there's not just them – there's Brooke to think about, too. It's going to be a real struggle for the Osbornes to get through this, although they have everyone's support.

👤 | Jamie, Norfolk

I can't say I didn't see this coming! They did it before with Jade and Alfie when they were both battling cancer – we knew one was going to go. It's a shame they killed off

Kyle, but it was so brilliantly done that I can't fault it.

👤 | Gracie, Crawley

A lot of you were also concerned for Darren, who's been struggling too...

Male depression and suicide is a really tricky subject to tackle sensitively – however, it's been played brilliantly, not only by Adam Rickitt, but also Ashley Taylor Dawson [who plays Darren].

👤 | Josie, Lewes

Poor Darren was just about to take a big step towards recovery, but this could really set him back. On the other hand, it might give him the push he needs to get better.

👤 | Andy, Dorset

Luckily, Darren has Mandy and Nancy by his side.

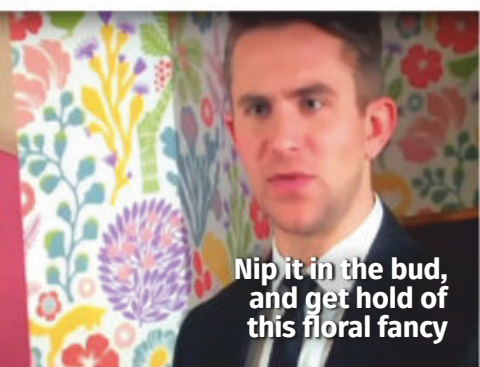

Request SPOT

WALL WORK

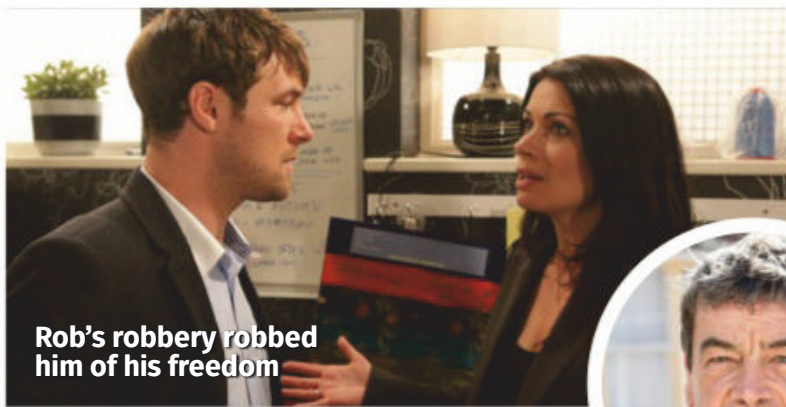

I'm thinking about doing some decorating while I have a lot time on my hands, and I really love the wallpaper from Ben and Callum's flat in EastEnders. Do you know what it's called?

📧 | Kate, Southgate

The summery wallpaper is called Ravdunge from the Wonderland range by Hanna Werning. You can buy it from Wallpaper Direct, and it'll certainly brighten up a room!

YOUR TRICKIEST SOAP QUERIES ANSWERED...

MOTHER MYSTERY

Carla talked about her mum Sharon recently, with the bloke staying at the Rovers in Corrie. Have we ever met her?

📧 | Nick, Tyldesley

Unfortunately, we've never actually met Sharon! However, we do know a lot about her – she was an alcoholic, and had Carla after a one-night stand with Johnny Connor.

Sharon got into debt with drug dealers and dragged her son, Rob, into helping her out of her situation. After committing armed robbery, Rob ended up in prison with an eight year sentence. Sadly, we won't ever get to meet Sharon on screen, as she passed away almost a decade ago.

Jack P Shepherd and Julia Goulding are itching to film David and Shona’s romantic reunion – even if it is from a distance...

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

“I want to stay a Platt – so shut up!” laughs actress Julia Goulding, who plays Corrie’s Shona, as co-star Jack P Shepherd (aka David) jokes that socially distanced filming could put the kibosh on any romantic reunion for their on-screen characters. However, mere practicalities don’t stop the pair dreaming about a second wedding for the couple, seeing as poor Shona’s amnesia prevents her from remembering the first...

“We don’t want another wedding held in the Bistro!” exclaims Jack, recalling the pair’s nuptials from last year. “We want a big cathedral.”

“Yeah! He has to wear a sharp suit – and I want a non-maternity wedding dress,” chips in Julia, who gave birth to son Franklin in November. “The one Shona had on before was like a big sheet to hide my baby bump – and I was stood next to really slim Jack! We’d definitely do it differently a second time around.”

SHOT TO THE HEART

We join the chirpy pair for a video chat in the run-up to the soap resuming filming. Julia had only just returned to the show following maternity leave when production shut down in March. Her real-life pregnancy forced Corrie bosses to concoct an exit storyline for Shona – and few soap plots are as inventive as a character suffering severe memory loss after being shot in a box at the local Winter Wonderland!

“It got me out of all the night shoots!” confesses the 35-year-old actress on the Street’s Christmas gun siege. “I never imagined the writers would conceal my tummy with a box, or that Shona wasn’t simply going to go off to look after a family member away from Weatherfield. It’s a great story.”

Identity crisis: Shona woke from her coma with no memory of her life with David

For better or worse: Unfortunately, it was the latter, when Shona was shot shortly after marrying David “Don’t forget, she and David had just got married,” adds Jack. “How else do you explain someone’s new wife disappearing for four months? It was a really clever way of doing it.”

For poor David, though, Shona is yet another of his loves to suffer unspeakable tragedy, if we remember that his ex-girlfriend Tina McIntyre was murdered in 2014, and his first wife Kylie was stabbed to death two years later.

So, we had to ask: What did David do to deserve having such rotten luck? Or is this simply karma’s way of saying that he should never have pushed his mum Gail down the stairs all those years ago?

“Yeah, it probably is!” laughs 32-year-old Jack, who this year marked his 20th anniversary in the role. “Even before that, though, David had people try to kill him – Richard Hillman, Charlie Stubbs – so he has always had a rubbish life!

We want a wedding for David and Shona in a big cathedral! JACK

“If David was a real person I’d be a bit fed up with him by now,” continues Jack.

“He just flies off the handle a bit too much – throwing his toys out of the pram, running out the house and slamming the door.”

“He’s that mate you see once a year,” pipes up Julia. “David’s nice in small doses, but you wouldn’t want to go on holiday with him. He’d be too much!”

BACK IN BUSINESS

Jack and Julia are due back on the Street soon, and can’t wait to play Mr and Mrs again – even though it’ll be from a distance. Meanwhile, Julia is thankful for the precious extra time she has had with seven-month-old Franklin.

“He is just wonderful,” she beams. “I was there when his first tooth came through! It’s been a small blessing in a really rubbish situation.”

Yet what about life in Weatherfield? Is there anything else the pair wish for their characters?

“I still want to work in Roy’s,” says Julia. “Perhaps we can do takeaways.”

“David’s up the creek as a hairdresser if they can’t open,” muses Jack. “But hopefully it’ll be rammed once they do. David will be raking it in!”

They may play a married couple, but how well do Jack and Julia know each other off set? Turn the page to find out with our Mrs & Mrs-style quiz...

The good old days: But will Shona and David ever cosy up on the sofa again?

Knowing me KNOWING YOU!

Jack and Julia know David and Shona inside out – but how well do the stars know each other? We thought we'd test their knowledge with a Mr & Mrs-style quiz – and once the banter started flowing, it didn't stop...

Welcome both of you to Mr & Mrs! Let's begin...

Julia He knows nothing about me, you know.

What would you say are each other's best qualities?

Jack [Laughs] Her teeth! Yeah, her big mouth.

Julia He calls them my A4 sheets of paper! What about my swamp eyes, though?

Jack Oh yeah, them as well.

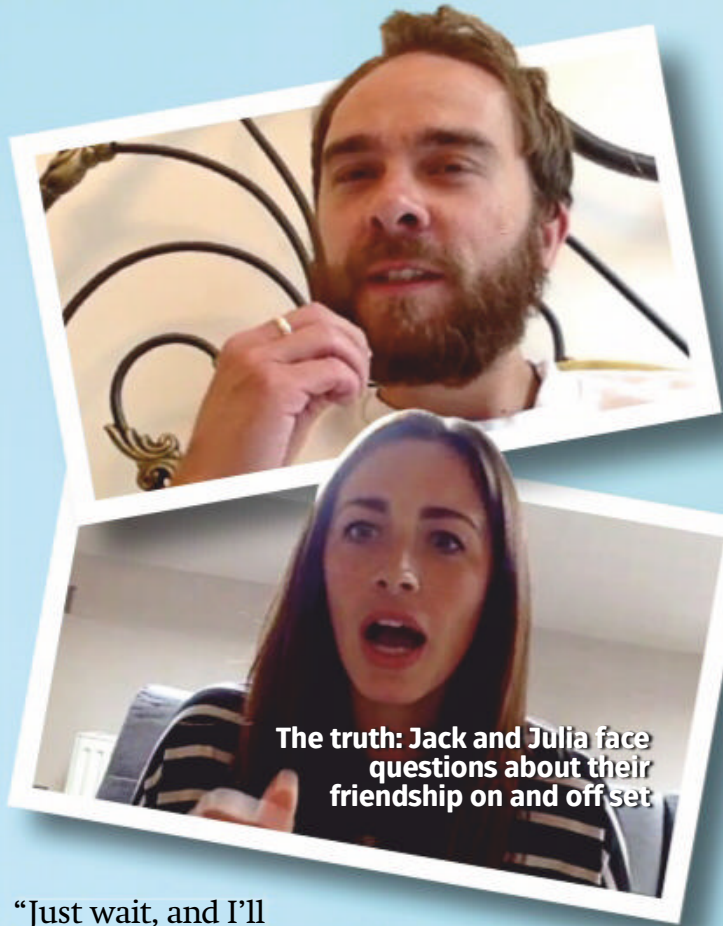

Julia Jack's best quality is that he is very funny, and he has little shark eyes! They're almost black.

What are each other's most annoying habits?

Jack She never shuts up. She talks at you.

Julia Yeah. I interrupt when he's trying to tell a story.

Jack You do, and you make up your own version of the story. I'm like,

The truth: Jack and Julia face questions about their friendship on and off set

"Just wait, and I'll give you the information!"

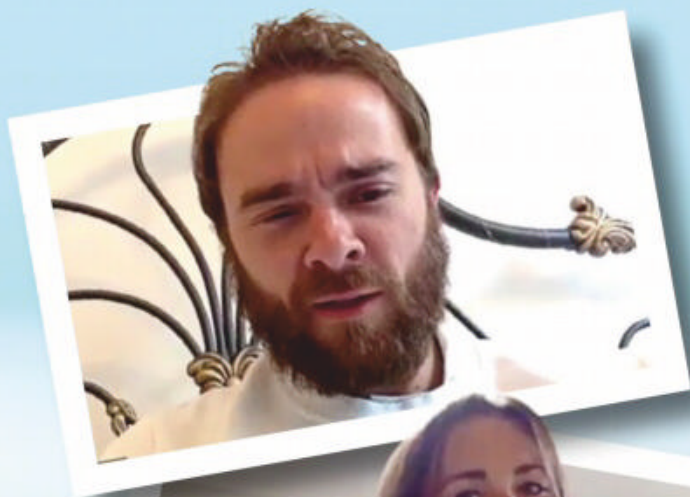

Julia He always goes, "This is the thing..." so I interrupt and go, "[Gasps] and then the ladder fell!" And he goes, "No, this is the thing..."

Jack Yeah, she's right!

Who are you both most likely to giggle in a scene with?

Julia Him!

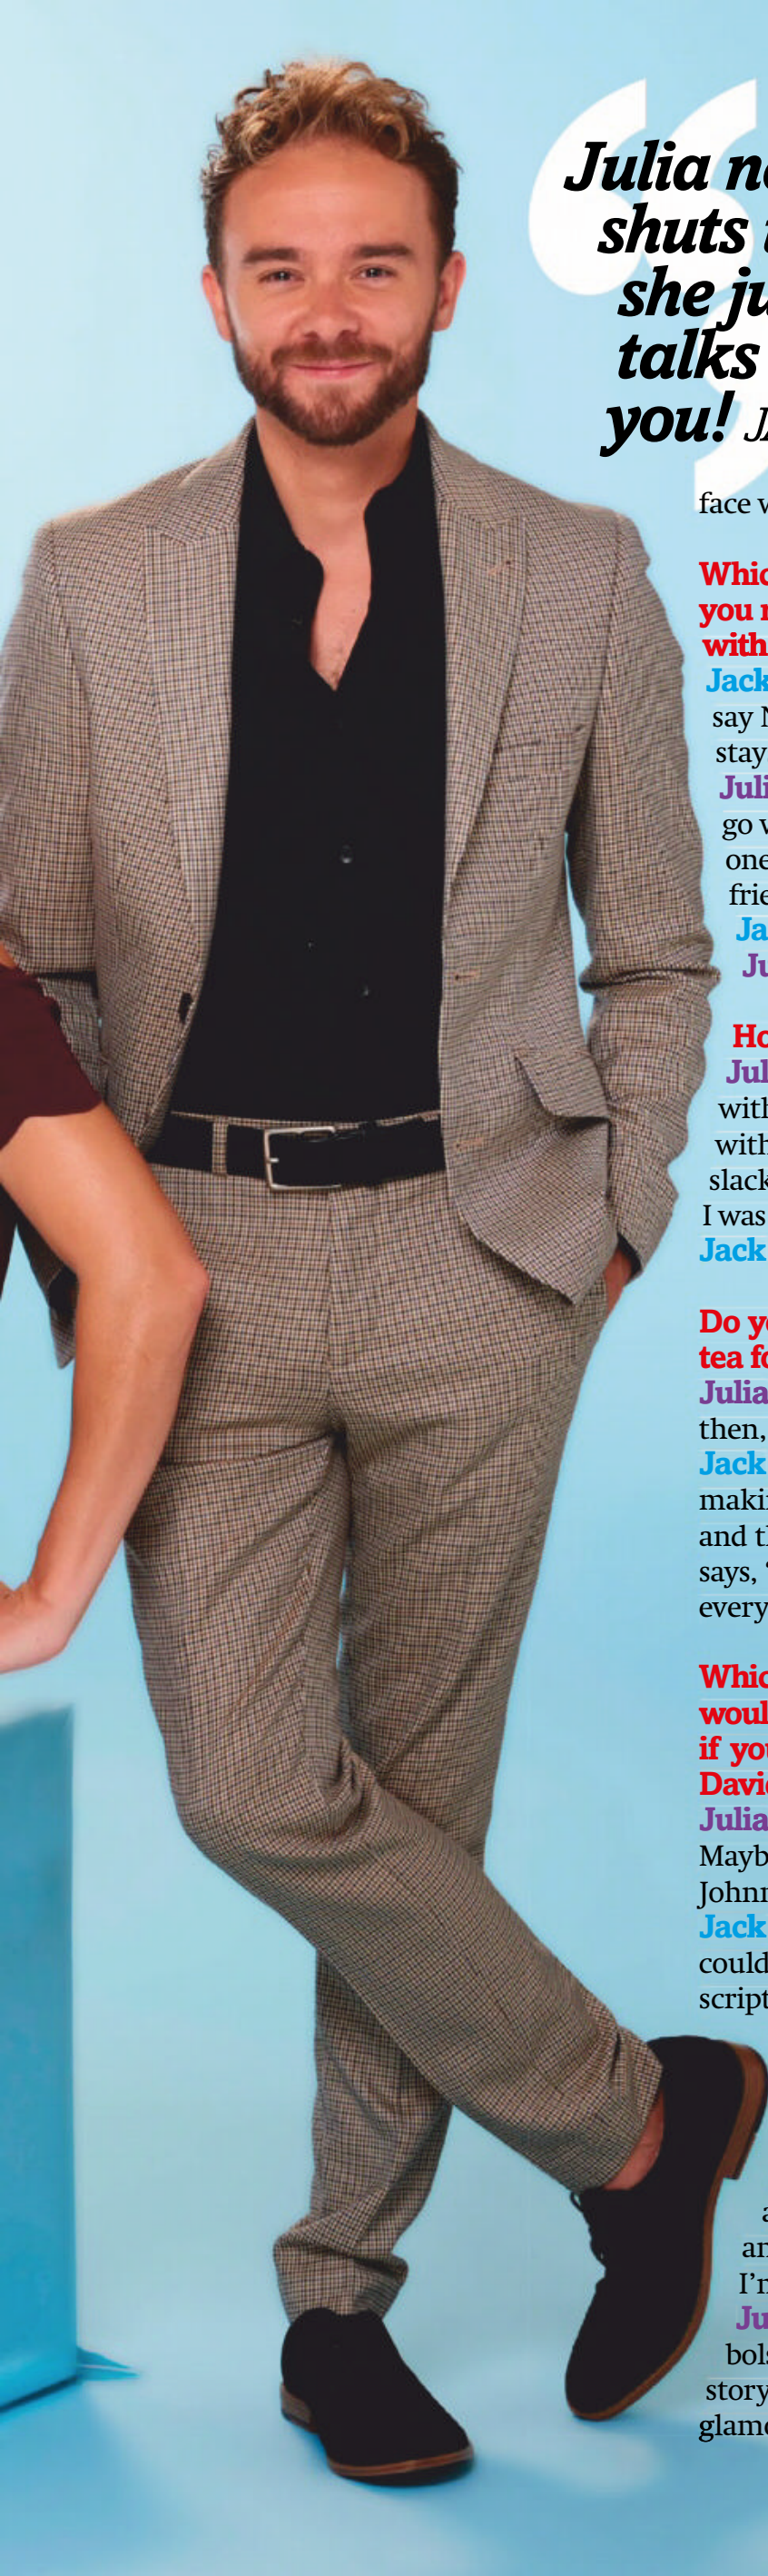

Jack Deffo. We always crack up, with most of the cast actually. I can't look at Simon Gregson [Steve]. If

Which Corrie character would you most like to be coupled up with, if not each other's?

Jack For Julia I'm going to say Nick, so that she still stays in the Platt family.

Julia Ooh, that's good, I'll go with that! Maria's a good one for David. They're good friends and she's hot.

Jack Yeah, Maria. Or Carla.

Julia Again, hot.

How do you both take your tea?

Julia He's the same as me, strong with milk, no sugar. We're quite equal with the brew making, although you slacked off because I went decaf when I was pregnant, and you fell out with me.

Jack I refused to make decaf.

Do you get lumbered with making tea for everyone on set?

Julia I will reach out every now and then, hoping that no one says yes.

Jack There's a few people that go, "I'm making a tea, does anyone want one?" and then literally all the green room says, "Yes"! I make mine and Julia's, and everyone else can fend for themselves.

Which Weatherfield character would the other love to play if you weren't playing David and Shona?

Julia Oh, I don't know. Maybe Brian, or Johnny for Jack?

Jack Dev. If you could see the scripts that Jimmi gets and what he does with it, it's completely different. He invents a language – it's insane and absolutely brilliant. I love him!

I'm going to say Gail for her.

Julia I would be Carla. She's bolshie, sexy and has brilliant storylines. And Shona's not very glamorous, so it might be nice to have a

What would be the first item that either of you would save in a fire, apart from family?

Jack She'd take her cat, Marcel.

Julia Without a doubt! And Jack's would be his shisha.

Jack It's not actually.

Julia What is it? Your car keys?

Jack It's my Ray-Bans, my shades.

Julia You've got about eight pairs of them, all the same ones. He's losing them all the time.

Jack Losing them, breaking them, and they've been stolen three times.

Julia Really? I can't believe it's not your shisha, I was absolutely dead certain on that.

And finally, one bonus question for you, Julia. Who is more professional – Jack, or David the dog?

Julia Oh... David the dog has come on leaps and bounds, hasn't he?

Jack He's quite well behaved. I mean, when we first got him...

Julia He bit you.

Jack He blimmin' bit me! He's all right now. Now that he...

Julia Has no teeth! There's not one tooth in his mouth.

He's just so old. He's about 17.

Jack His breath stank before!

Julia I'd still say David the dog is the more professional, though.

Jack I'd agree, actually!

“As a single mum with three kids, lockdown has hit me massively!”

EMMERDALE | ITV MONDAY

STAR LUCY PARGETER OPENS UP ABOUT CHAS'
RECENT STRUGGLES – AS WELL AS HER OWN...

Couple Chas and Paddy are feeling the strain this week, as we join them during lockdown. And when we chat to Emmerdale's Lucy Pargeter – who plays Chas – about her character's problems, she admits that she's among those who've been feeling the pressure of the current situation.

The 43-year-old – who is mum to teen daughter Lola and three-year-old twins Missy and Betsy – has had to reach out to friends for help, and has been struggling emotionally. But Lucy admits the experience has taught her a lot...

“I went into lockdown thinking, ‘I’m going to be really creative and do something different every day’ – then the tiredness and monotony kicked in,” admits the star. “I’m here on my own with my three kids. I’m used to being a single mum, but then you have to put into the mix

Reality check: The pandemic has made Chas think about her life with Paddy

Two cute: Lucy brought the twins into work as babies

The look of love: Mum Lucy coos over one of her twin girls that you're actually trying to fight to keep your children alive, and the fear of what would happen if I became sick. It's a life-and-death situation for so many people, and that has hit me massively."

Fortunately for Lucy, her loved ones have rallied around and helped her no end.

"I couldn't get an online shopping slot for six weeks, so I had to rely on my mates to go shopping for me," she says. "I don't like putting anyone out of their way, so that was a massive deal for me."

To say to my friends that I can't go shopping and we have nothing in the house has been a huge learning curve. I've realised that I have so many people around me who I can rely on, and that me and my friends are willing to go above and beyond for each other. It's really cemented my friendships and I feel very blessed to have them."

But what of Chas and Paddy? What will they learn about each other during lockdown? The pair have had a rocky time just lately, with Paddy's anxiety taking its toll on their relationship – and Lucy tells us that the current situation only exacerbates the couple's problems.

"Chas is very much part of the DNA of the village and she's floundering without that connection to others," shares the actress. "All of a sudden, Chas is alone in the Woolpack without any interaction with the outside world, and I think that she feels she's without purpose. I think we get a lot of ourselves from other people, as many of us have found out."

Meanwhile, Paddy's role as a vet has been keeping him busy, treating animals and helping local farmers, and so he hasn't quite grasped the depths of his partner's despair. However, back on the home front, Chas is also desperately concerned about the future of the Woolpack...

"Chas has every right to be worried," says Lucy. "There aren't many people in lockdown with no worries, thinking it doesn't matter how long it goes on, as they have an endless pot of money. The Woolpack is her livelihood and, with the state of things, the leisure industry will be one of the last things to open up again, so it's a massive strain on her. Paddy thinks if he tells himself everything will be okay, then it will be. Yet Chas is very aware this may not be great for them."

The special episode will see the pair finally take a good look at their relationship, leaving Paddy heartbroken to discover that Chas doesn't feel like she used too. But are things beyond repair for them? Lucy certainly hopes not.

"Oh, their relationship is amazing," she enthuses. "They've shared so much and are so compatible in many ways. After all the failed relationships she's had, Chas is happy to have someone she can depend on. I love the way she and Paddy work together – one minute they can be laughing, then the next involved in serious, heart-rending stuff. It's fantastic."

without mother!

Chas and Paddy's woes were filmed under new socially distanced conditions. We spoke to Lucy as she was just about to start filming the special episode, who admitted: "It's going to be very weird and I'm not looking forward to the way we're going to be working." However, she's unsure if she'll actually get to watch the finished episode on screen to see the result...

"I don't see any [episodes of Emmerdale] at the time they're on, as they air in the middle of bath and bedtime in our house," reveals Lucy. "I used to have to record them, but I'm afraid it has been taken over by kids' shows and films, so there isn't any space left for it!"

“This is a new chapter – I have no idea what lies ahead...”

EastEnders star Kellie Bright (Linda) lifts the lid on Secrets From The Square, and looks ahead to a full-time return to filming...

It's a huge moment in EastEnders history this week as, for the first time in over 35 years, there aren't any new episodes on BBC1 – due to the recently enforced break in filming due to Covid-19. But EastEnders fans shouldn't fret! There's still plenty of exciting content to tide us over until the soap returns to our screens later this year.

From Monday, viewers can enjoy an exclusive behind-the-scenes show, Secrets From The Square – hosted by Stacey Dooley – in which our favourite actors spill the beans on filming their characters' most memorable moments. First up are Danny Dyer and Kellie Bright, aka Mick and Linda Carter, and we grabbed Kellie for the lowdown on what viewers can expect...

“You'll feel as if you're sat down having a chat with us,” she grins. “People will love seeing the actors behind the characters and seeing our relationship – and what it's like interacting with us. I just blurted out things that I don't want people to know [laughs]!”

“It was very nostalgic,” adds Kellie. “We've been on the show for six-and-a-half years now, so we're at a point where we're looking back at the beginning, and it feels like a long time ago. Danny and I look really young!”

The new show was filmed on EastEnders' iconic set in Elstree – and it was the first time Kellie had been back to her workplace since the lockdown began, back in March. As you'd expect, she admits that returning to the studios was a poignant experience.

“When I drove back to Elstree, I felt really emotional, more than I thought I was going to,” reveals Kellie. “Since I'd last been there, the world is such a changed place, and that feeling was quite immense.

That place is like my home, so I felt comfortable coming back. The hardest thing was seeing people that I'm used to seeing every day, and not being able to hug them.”

However, Kellie tells us that her mood quickly lifted when she was reunited with her screen hubby Danny – who soon had her in fits of giggles!

“Filming the show was really funny,” she shares. “What I loved about the day there with Danny was that I laughed non-stop! It reminded me of what it's like to be with him working on a daily basis, and why I love working with him so much – because he is a joy.

“We worked with a skeleton crew, but to be in a room full of people was lovely,” adds Kellie. “I came away from that day thinking that was a breath of fresh air, after all these weeks of lockdown, and not seeing anyone except my husband and children. It was like a little holiday.”

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

With EastEnders due to resume proper filming at the end of this month, Kellie won't have to wait long until she returns to set full-time. And she confesses that she's looking forward to finally getting back into the swing of things...

“I feel very grateful that I have a job that is going to start again,” admits the star. “I know it will be challenging, but I'm looking forward to seeing the people I work with, and I'm also intrigued – at the moment I have no idea what lies ahead.

“I know that we will be living in a different world after coronavirus,” adds Kellie. “We're honouring that, which is really important, but it's going to be very different. It's going to be a new challenge for my brain, which has literally gone to sleep for the past few months. What I'm most worried about is learning my lines!”

There will certainly be testing times ahead for the Carters, as they prepare to sell their beloved Vic and move out. And Kellie predicts that leaving the pub behind could have a huge impact on Mick and Linda's relationship.

“I think it could be quite hard on them actually,” she muses. “I don't think Linda will know what her role is. I imagine Mick will take charge in terms of things at home and with Ollie, because Linda is not a domestic goddess! She's a good mum, but she's not a homemaker.

She's never been a cook, she's not that type of woman. She's a landlady.

"I just think that she will really flounder, and feel a bit lost," continues Kellie. "And that could have an impact on her relationship with Mick, as she will feel as though she doesn't have any control. I fear that it could be quite tough on them."

But it's not just the Carters who will miss being at the helm of the Vic – Kellie admits that it will be quite a big adjustment for her, too.

"I feel that it's a new chapter," she concedes. "It's interesting to me as an actor to see what happens to these characters when they're out of that pub. That's why I'm up for it, because I know what they're like in the pub – I know how they function. I don't know their life outside of the pub. And for me, as an actress, that's more exciting!"

Kellie previews this week's classic episode...

As well as learning some behind-the-scenes secrets, fans can also look back on some of the show's most famous episodes. The stroll down memory lane kicks off on Tuesday, with the iconic 1986 two-hander between ex-Vic owners Den and Angie Watts. As the pub's current landlady, Kellie can't wait to relive the drama between the original king and queen of the Vic...

"I love nostalgia, so I love the old episodes," she grins. "For me, the thing about Den and Angie – and this is where I lean towards Ange as a bit of a role model – is that they were the originals. You cannot ever be the originals again, no matter how brilliant some of the other landlords and landladies have been. There's just something about those two."

"Underneath all of it, I feel as if they really loved each other, and that's also reflected in Linda and Mick," adds Kellie. "The fact that they adopted Sharon and they never had children of their own is also interesting. What that did to Ange... I always see the broken girl inside that really fierce persona. Although her make-up and hair was another level. I wish I could get my hair that big!"

Perfect match: These two gave as good as they got!

Past tense: We'll get to relive this moment, and many more!

Role of honour: Linda and Mick have ensured their place in Vic history

It's good that we're now getting the opportunity to learn more about who Mackenzie is outside of her being transgender – and get her into some fun, crazy situations that people get into on Ramsay Street!” grins Neighbours star Georgie Stone, aka Mackenzie, as we chat to her about recently becoming a permanent cast member. “I actually pitched the character to Neighbours originally, and I had lots of input into the storyline, so I feel very protective over her. But now that she's moved on to the street properly, I love not knowing what's going to happen to her next!”

As the first transgender actress to play a trans character in Neighbours, Georgie is delighted to be making history in the Australian soap world. Yet while the show is still exploring the issues Mackenzie faces as a young trans woman – such as being able to undergo her gender reassignment surgery, now that she has turned 18 – Georgie is also keen to explore universal themes that affect all girls her age.

“It's great to see a trans person so visible on a show like Neighbours, being embraced and celebrated,” she explains. “However, the majority of the storylines I have coming up are nothing to do with that. Mackenzie's gender identity isn't all of who she is, there's so much more to her – she's three-dimensional, like everyone, and she's a part of the same storylines, the romances, and everything all the other characters go through."

Pride and joy: Mackenzie is thrilled when her dad attends Lassiters Pride with her

This week, Mackenzie finally makes some headway in her relationship with her dad, Grant, as he agrees to attend Lassiters Pride with her (where they bump into drag extraordinaire Courtney Act). It's a huge moment for the schoolgirl, who feels that her father is at last starting to accept her for who she really is.

"Mackenzie sees this moment as a turning point for her dad," reveals Georgie. "She's so excited, because to her it looks as though he is finally starting to love her for who she is.

So far, she has been erasing parts of herself for his benefit – not talking about her boyfriend, pretending to be interested in sport – which has been difficult for her. And then Grant finally calls Mackenzie his daughter, which means so much to her."

Mackenzie also gets the opportunity to introduce her dad to her boyfriend, Richie – and Georgie promises that we'll be seeing much more of the pair's heart-warming romance.

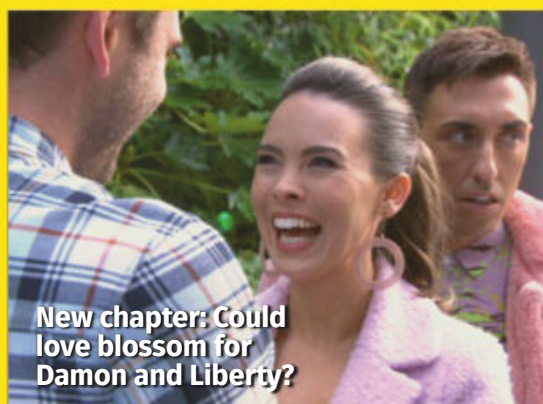

"I love them together, they're adorable!" she exclaims. "I receive messages all the time from viewers saying that they love Mackenzie's relationship with Richie, and that her original storyline really resonated with them. The response to Mackenzie has been so lovely – in fact, the whole experience is everything that I could have hoped it would be. It has been a dream come true!"

Hollyoaks star Jacob Roberts hints at a new romance for his alter ego Damon...

New chapter: Could love blossom for Damon and Liberty?

move on! Damon seems to be a hopeless romantic, and I think he's going into another situation with Liberty – there could be another love triangle!

So Damon and Liberty could become an item?

They're quite similar people and both of them have a lot of love to give. I'd say it's a nice blossoming friendship that could lead to something else...

Ever since his release from prison, where he was banged up for fraud – thanks to Maxine's lies – Damon has kept a low profile in the village. But as we chat to Jacob Roberts, who plays him, he tells us that is all set to change...

Hi, Jacob! Can you tell us about Damon's attempts to cheer up Liberty this week?

He's seen her struggle over the past couple of weeks, so he decides to do a nice thing for Liberty and throw a gender reveal party for the baby. The friendship between Liberty and Damon is growing stronger and stronger.

But Maxine causes a problem for him, doesn't she?

Yeah, Maxine asks Damon to look after Minnie. She knows that he really cares for Minnie, as she's like a daughter to him. I think she's still taking advantage of him, and basically he gets snowed under.

If Damon was your friend, what advice would you give to him about his situation with Maxine?

I'd tell him to stay clear of her – he has to

It could get complicated for them all when Liberty's baby is born!

Well, we started filming that stuff just before the break in production – and it's not going to be plain sailing. Damon has to be there for Liberty because it's going to go off! It might even end up Damon and Liberty versus Brody and Sienna. Who knows? Maybe Damon's brotherly relationship with Brody will be tarnished, too.

EastEnders' Whitney Dean

...faces your questions!

Whitney has had a terrible year! So, compared with playing out Whit's dramas, answering your questions should be a breeze for Shona...

“If you had been in charge of organising EastEnders' 35th birthday celebrations in February, what would they have looked like?”

I would have got everyone in the cast to pick an EastEnders character's name out of a hat, and they'd have to dress up as that person and do an impression of them. Then there would be a compilation video of all of the impressions played on the night of the party. And the whole thing would take place on the Square, of course. As for me,

I wouldn't like to say which character I would do the best impression of!

“What will you do first when we can go out again?”

“If you could cast any celebrity to make a cameo in EastEnders, who would you choose – and why?”

Well, my absolute idol is Angelina Jolie. I'm not sure how I'd be able to write her into the show, so maybe she could direct an episode instead. Just to meet her, let alone work with her, would make my life complete. I'm sure she could play someone in the show, although I'm not certain about which family she could be best attached to...

“Which EastEnders character would you most like to be stuck in lockdown with?”

That definitely has to be Karen! I think she'd make it so enjoyable – we'd dance and laugh all the time, and she'd make us a big English breakfast. Karen knows how to have fun, doesn't she? You'd definitely giggle a lot with her!

“What's the first thing you're going to do when we're allowed to properly go out and about again?”

I'll be getting my family to come over to my house so I can give them all the biggest hug, and I'd squeeze the life out of them – especially my two nephews. It's been pretty hard not seeing them all. Then we'll get the most enormous order ever from Nando's, because I miss its food so much! And we'd demolish the lot of it as a family.

“If you were to use your recent time off work to study something new, what would it be?”

Actually, I've always wanted to be a midwife. I was there when my best

We are family: Shona's missing her mum and dad in lockdown

Over the Moon: Whitney and Tyler called it a day – but could her Romeo make a comeback?

friend had her little girl, and I was in the delivery room when my sister had her second little boy. I loved it. It was amazing; I think women are incredible. Plus, if someone was to suddenly go into labour, I'd know what to do!

“When was the last time you baked a cake? And what’s your favourite flavour to make?”

The last time I baked a cake was for my dad’s birthday last year. I made him a golf-themed cake because he loves the sport – it was a rainbow sponge with a buttercream filling. I made a little golf course to go on top, with a little golfer called Pat, which is my dad’s name. I used crushed biscuits for the sand for the bunker. He loved it! I went through a phase of just baking all the time; I find it very addictive.

“Whitney has had terrible luck with men in the past – is there anyone on the Square who you think would be a good match for her?”

Well, I don’t think there’s anyone on the Square at the moment who would suit her, to be honest. But my favourite boyfriend Whitney has ever had is Tyler Moon. I always thought they were really well-suited, so maybe Tyler could make a return one day?

“If Whitney escapes a jail sentence, what would be your dream storyline to play next?”

This might sound a bit strange, but I love

“What would we be surprised to know about you?”

playing darker stories. As a viewer, of course I want Whitney to be happy, but as an actress I enjoy the challenge of playing a dark and vulnerable side of her character. I’d like to see the feisty side of Whit come back, too. And I love doing fight scenes, so some of those would be good. I’m an action hero at heart!

“If you could take Whitney to another soap, which one would it be and why?”

...asks reader Perrie King from Bexleyheath

Obviously, my loyalty is with EastEnders, but if I could, I’d take Whitney to Emmerdale. I watch all the soaps, and have done for years, and I think Emmerdale always has really good storylines. It would be freezing up there in the winter, though! I’d like to work on a farm, actually. I love animals, I used to go to the farm a lot when I was little, and I really love that sort of thing.

DOG DRAMA!

That's the way the Cookie crumbles!

We didn't know dogs could have phantom pregnancies – but Corrie star Simon Gregson (Steve) has revealed that his pooch Cookie thinks she is expecting!

“So Cookie is having a phantom pregnancy – she has stolen an Ewok, and won't let anyone near it,” he shared on Twitter.

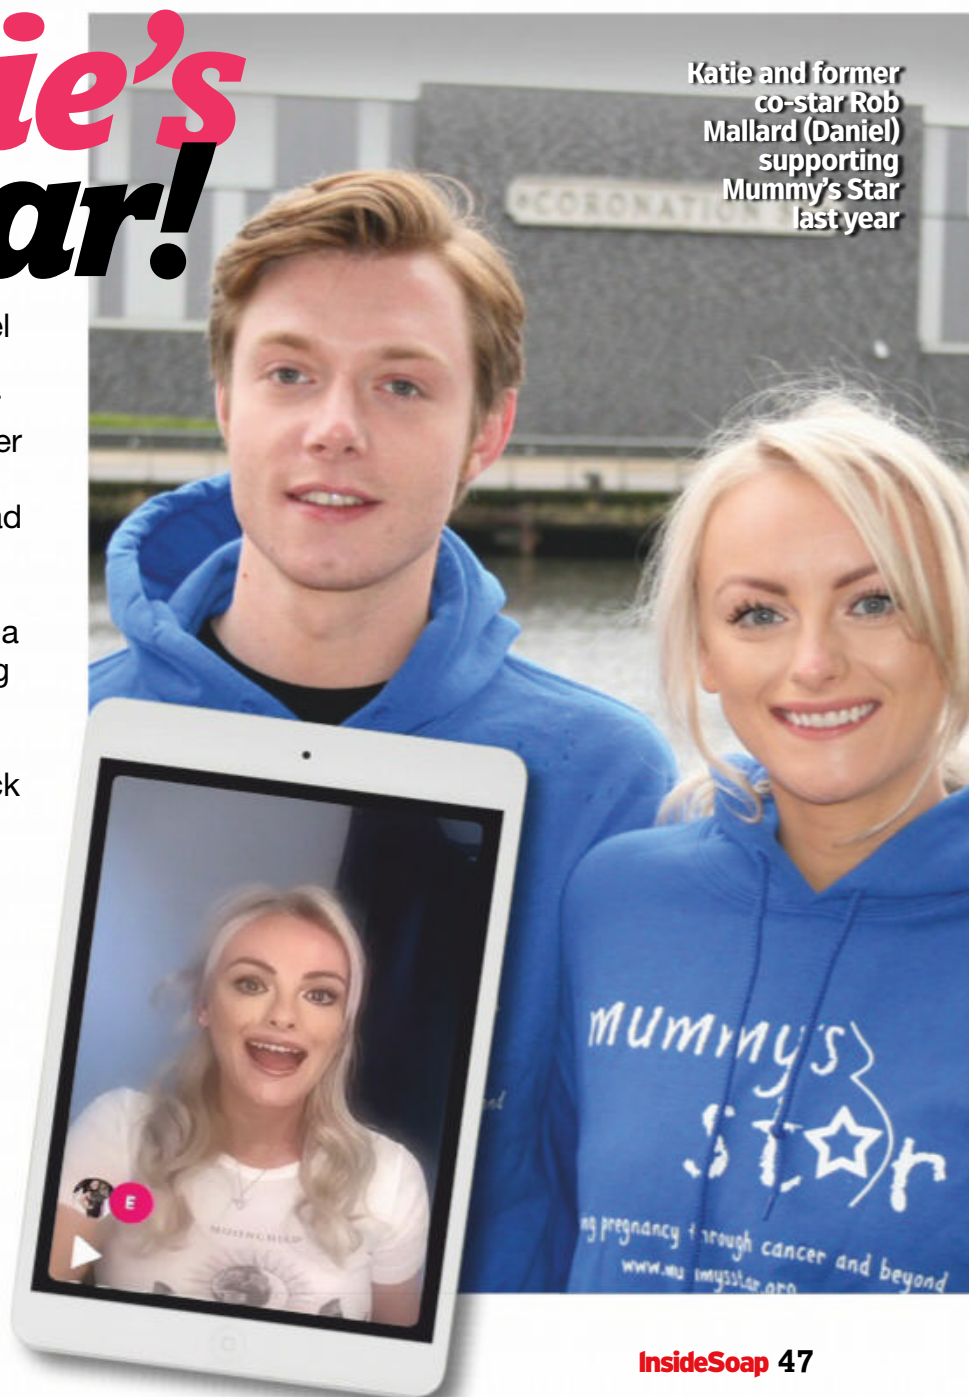

“Cute and scary at the same time, she's full on in mum mode. But still wants daddy cuddles, the soft bugger!”

Cookie plays Corrie dog Rover – so perhaps we'll be seeing the Ewok on screen soon...

THE LUMINARIES | BBC1 SUNDAY-MONDAY

Love, murder, magic and revenge: just four of the vital ingredients that make up this lavish adaptation of Eleanor Catton's Man-Booker prize-winning novel The Luminaries. The six-part series has been filmed on location in New Zealand – where the bulk of the story is set – and episodes one and two come to BBC1 this week.

The year is 1865, and Anna Wetherell travels from the UK to New Zealand to forge a new life. On her arrival, she has a romantic encounter with charismatic Emery Staines, which fills her with great expectations for the adventure ahead, and the life they might share together. However, scheming fortune-teller Lydia Wells has other plans in store for Anna, and makes sure that the pair's planned rendezvous never takes place...

"Anna meets Emery on her first day in the country," explains Eve Hewson, who plays her. "It's love at first sight! They have an immediate interest in each other, but then Lydia comes in and tears them apart. The rest of the story is about Anna and Emery trying to find each other, to rekindle their relationship."

Emery is played by former EastEnders Himesh Patel (Tamwar Masood), who tells us that his character has sailed from England to New Zealand to find his fortune.

"Emery is something of an adventurer, and has a poet's soul," reckons Himesh. "He and Anna recognise something in each other. I think the audience will be rooting for Emery, because he's just trying to get the girl! He's the good guy. Unfortunately, circumstances get in the way, and they don't find each other for a long time..."

The two would-be lovers are kept apart thanks to the machinations of Lydia Wells, played by Eva Green.

"Lydia is an American who runs a fortune parlour in New Zealand," explains Eva. "She's a natural entrepreneur. She's strong, sharp, and has figured out how to make money. She's a gambler and a survivor, and feels she's above the law. For her, there are no rules. So, she's completely blinded by greed, and gets whatever she desires, no matter the cost. She's a real baddie!"

Indeed, there's no getting away from the over-arching theme of a thirst for wealth.

"Every character is driven and motivated by gold in some way," confirms Eve. "Gold highlights human greed and the lengths people are prepared to go to, to get what they want – whether it's fame or wealth or love or freedom. Gold represents different things to different characters, but what's interesting about Anna is that she's the only person who doesn't really want anything to do with the gold, even though she says she does. She's actually running from something..."

"I hope people will see what a period drama can be in this day and age," adds Himesh. "It's fascinating to see an author adapting their own very popular work. Moral tales of greed will ring true today, because it's a story of capitalism gone wrong."

"It is a period drama, but with more magic and adventure than you'd expect," agrees Eve. "It's like Gaslight meets The Girl On The Train with Titanic sprinkled on top... with a touch of Game Of Thrones!"

Crosbie Wells

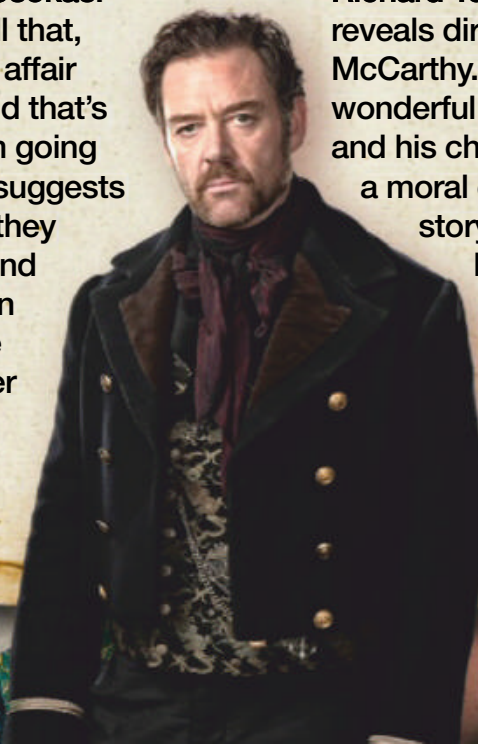

"Crosbie is a tragic character who doesn't realise that's the case," says Ewan Leslie, who plays him. "He longs to find his place in the world, and has always wanted to meet his father. He and Lydia got together after he put a bet on her spinning wheel and won her as his wife! But he's since fallen under her spell..."

Francis Carver

"Francis has been in prison on Cockatoo Island for 11 years, and when we meet him he's three months out," explains his alter ego, Marton Csokas. "But before all that, he had a love affair with Lydia, and that's what kept him going in prison. He suggests to her that they go away and start again – but she has other ideas!"

Te Rau Tauwhare

"Tauwhare is a Maori greenstone hunter, played by Richard Te Are," reveals director Claire McCarthy. "He's a truly wonderful Maori actor, and his character really is a moral compass for the story in a lot of ways. Richard brought a spirituality as well as his own artistic sensibility to Tauwhare."

PLAYWRIGHT ALAN BENNETT TELLS US WHY HE WAS THRILLED TO RETURN TO HIS BBC CLASSIC...

TALKING HEADS | BBC1 TUESDAY & THURSDAY

It's time to go back to basics: one actor, one set, one monologue – and a gripping half-hour of television. Those are the components of Talking Heads, which returns to BBC1 this week, for the first time in more than 20 years.

With 'normal' TV drama proving impossible to make over the past few months, TV executives have been getting creative. How can you make new content quickly, safely, and on a low budget, when you're in the middle of a pandemic? And how do you make use of some of the country's best theatrical talent, at a time when theatres have been forced to close their doors? Well, here's the answer...

The original Talking Heads, written by acclaimed playwright Alan Bennett, won plaudits – and BAFTAs – and this new version is set to be just as celebrated. There are 12 new episodes, 10 of which reuse Alan's original scripts from the 80s and 90s.

"I was delighted to hear about this project," grins the 86-year-old writer. "Although I didn't have any idea about how the BBC was going to do them. And I still don't! So I'm very much looking forward to seeing them. I've refreshed my memory of some of the scripts, and have even found myself laughing."

We kick off the new series with A Lady Of Letters, starring Imelda Staunton as a woman obsessed with writing missives to correct all the social ills that she perceives in life. The remaining two episodes are completely new, however, with these scripts written by Alan last year.

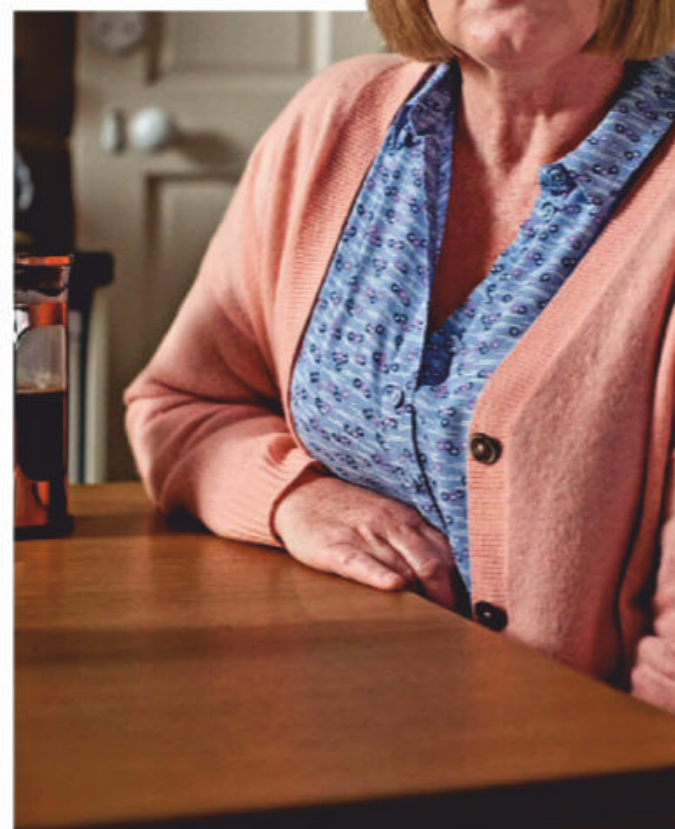

"The two new monologues are quite bleak," he reveals.

"There's An Ordinary Woman [performed by Sarah Lancashire, see below], and The Shrine [performed by Monica Dolan], which is about one of those makeshift memorials one sees at the roadside following an accident."

The episodes have been filmed at BBC Elstree Centre – several of them on the currently unused EastEnders sets – using minimal crew. Actors including Jodie Comer, Kristin Scott Thomas, Lucian Msamati and Tamsin Greig are among the impressive roll call – and the playwright couldn't be more delighted.

SARAH LANCASHIRE TELLS US ABOUT HER BRAND-NEW MONOLOGUE...

“THE CAST IS ASTONISHING – I’M MOST FLATTERED!”

"The cast is astonishing, and all agreed at the first time of asking!" enthuses Alan. "I hope it's because they liked the scripts – or maybe nobody else was offering work! Anyway, I'm most flattered. Some of them called me to say they were having a good time, which one is always glad to know. They wanted to thank me, but I should be thanking them! Not to mention whoever had the idea of reviving Talking Heads in the first place..."

Tom Spilsbury

"To be asked to perform a brand-new Talking Head was beyond my expectations," beams former Corrie star Sarah Lancashire (Raquel Watts), who plays Gwen in An Ordinary Woman, which airs on Tuesday at 9.30pm. "The matchless brilliance of Alan Bennett's words – coupled with Nick Hytner's direction – made it a thrilling experience. It was the chance of a lifetime!"

Sarah delivered her monologue on a set which will be very familiar to EastEnders viewers, as it's the Queen Vic's kitchen! But you'll soon forget that once you're swept away by Sarah's performance.

"Gwen is a complex and troubled woman in her middle years," explains the actress. "It's a beautiful and achingly poignant portrait."

My Telly HEAVEN!

...with Anita Rani

We chatted to TV presenter Anita Rani, who hosts the final exploration of different parenting styles in Britain's Best Parent? this week, about her favourite shows...

Teenage kicks : Anita is loving teen drama Never Have I Ever

Hidden gem: When They See Us is a must-watch

What are your favourite dramas you've watched recently?

The last couple I've devoured are Fleabag, and Ava DuVernay's When They See Us on Netflix. They've left a lasting impact on me, and I think everyone needs to see them.

What was the last show that you binge-watched?

Curb Your Enthusiasm – series nine and 10. Larry David is a genius. Also, Never Have I Ever by Mindy Kaling on Netflix. It's the first time I've ever seen a teen drama that revolves around a little Indian girl in America. I wish it had been on TV when I was a kid.

What shows did you love to watch when you were growing up?

Quantum Leap, The League Of Gentlemen, Bottom, The Word, Rough Guide and Question Time.

I watched a lot of TV as a kid!

And what about comedies?

We're huge comedy fans in our house. I've just watched Dave on the BBC. It's about a middle-class Jewish guy trying to become a rapper who goes by the name Little Dicky because he has a little... well! The first episode had me laughing so hard.

So Jew wanna be a rap star: Dave has Anita in stitches

What's your favourite programme to relax and unwind in front of?

I absolutely love quiz shows. I can easily do a Countdown-Pointless-The Chase-Mastermind marathon! But if I want to have something on in the background after eating a big Sunday lunch, it will always be Poirot. I can watch endless episodes of that.

Belgian waffle: Anita enjoys Poirot for a bit of background noise

And if you could choose to be in any programme, what would it be?

I'd love to have a go at acting. A part in an Agatha Christie thriller would be my dream. I also love Year Of The Rabbit on Channel 4: I think I could make a great Victorian villain...

Perry Mason: a name that strikes fear into the heart of any criminal. And now, Sky Atlantic uncovers the intrepid defence lawyer's early years...

I think I'm too young to remember Perry Mason... That's likely! He was created by Erle Stanley Gardner, whose detective novels were adapted into a popular TV series in 1957. Raymond Burr (who later starred as equally legendary TV tec Ironside) took the lead in 271 episodes of courtroom drama, before returning for a run of camp TV movies in the 80s and 90s.

So is this series a remake? Not really – it's only the name that's the same. Matthew Rhys (Brothers & Sisters) is playing a younger Mason, as we find out how it all began for the future hotshot attorney – who was renowned for tackling the toughest cases and winning all of them (well, bar three).

Is Perry at law school, then? The law school of hard knocks, yes. We meet chain-smoking Mason working in 1932 LA as a low-rent private investigator, traumatised by his wartime experiences in France and the breakdown of his marriage – which has left him estranged from his young son, Theodore.

He certainly looks troubled... He's got a lot on his plate! But Perry is about to hone his skills when a major case lands in his lap – and his relentless pursuit of the truth might just be his own saving grace.

So does that mean it's all a bit gloomy?

It's certainly very 'noir', with shocking scenes and salty language making it unsuitable for family viewing. But it's a period piece with an evocative soundtrack – Radiohead's Life In A Glasshouse plays over the trailer, a track also used in Peaky Blinders. So if you enjoyed that show, you should give this one a whirl.

Anything else to know?

Perhaps just that Matthew Rhys' co-stars include the legendary John Lithgow as personal attorney Elias Birchard 'EB' Jonathan, as well as Boardwalk Empire's Shea Whigham as Mason's investigative sidekick Pete Strickland, and Tatiana Maslany (Orphan Black) as uber-powerful radio preacher Sister Alice...

PYRAMID POWER!

SECRETS OF AN ANCIENT CIVILISATION ARE UNLOCKED VIA A FASCINATING ARCHAEOLOGICAL EXPERIMENT...

As both ruthless warriors and ingenious engineers, the Aztecs were one of the most powerful civilisations of the world for more than 200 years. Six centuries on from their downfall, with many of their cities long since destroyed, untold Aztec secrets remain buried beneath Mexico.

In this enlightening two-parter, a team of archaeologists and historians join forces to construct a replica Aztec pyramid...

Making history: The archaeologists are uncovering Aztec secrets

"The Aztecs were an incredibly sophisticated people whose engineering was outstanding," says executive producer Dan Kendal. "The only way to understand these processes was for the team to try to do it themselves – using as many traditional methods as they could."

Committed to the task, archaeologist David Walton and architect Lucas Cantu investigate the ruins, exploring deep inside the tunnels hidden below a vast pyramid, previously lost for centuries.

"It took us a year to get permission to take cameras onto some of these sites," reveals Dan. "There was also the worry of whether it was even possible to create this 20-ton structure. Would it collapse under its own weight? Plus, all the angles had to be right – nobody wants a wonky pyramid!"

The question is, would the Aztecs have been impressed by what their 21st-century imitators have accomplished?

"I'd like to think they'd applaud the effort – even if ours was much smaller!" chuckles Dan. "And they'd be pleased to see our genuine admiration for what the Aztecs achieved all those centuries before."

Next up is St Petersburg in Russia, where Jane heads to the Hermitage Museum, hoping to spot the cats that traditionally live in the basement. The third stop is Helsinki, Finland, where Jane meets a woman whose ambition is to kiss a brown bear. Finally, the ship pulls into the Swedish capital of Stockholm for one of the highlights of the singer's journey – a guided tour around the ABBA Museum. (S)

KING GEORGE VI: THE ACCIDENTAL KING | Channel 5 9PM

King and country

It's Father's Day this weekend, so while it might be deliberate, or could just be a coincidence, Channel 5 has scheduled a new documentary about the Queen's dad, King George VI.

Albert Frederick Arthur George Saxe-Coburg Gotha was never actually supposed to become King. As the second son of George V, it was his older brother, Edward, who was destined to succeed their father. However, that was all to change in 1936. Edward abdicated soon after coming to the throne, Albert became George VI, and the rest is history. Fascinating history, in fact. Tonight's programme tells the tale of a shy, unassuming boy who went on to become a national inspiration during the dark days of World War Two.

Football comes home

MATCH OF THE DAY LIVE: BOURNEMOUTH V CRYSTAL PALACE | BBC1 7.15PM

Regional variations

Something of a milestone, this: the first-ever Premier League football match to be shown live on the BBC! Of course, the 2019-20 season should be well and truly over by now, but – as with everything else – football has been on hold for the past three months. This week, the top league in Europe tentatively starts up again, as the remaining 92 matches are played, albeit behind closed doors – no fans are allowed inside the stadiums. Tonight's encounter between the Cherries and the Eagles is one of several that will air on BBC1 over the next few weeks – you can see Norwich City v Everton on Wednesday. Get in!

LOVE ISLAND: AUSTRALIA | ITV2 9PM

We're a few days into the Aussie version of the reality dating series now, taking the place of the British one which had to be cancelled due to the pandemic. Expect the typical twists and turns (with the main one being location, obvs, from Mallorca to Fiji). Tonight, the power is in the hands of the ladies in the first 'recoupling ceremony', which will see one of the Islanders unceremoniously dumped...

SANDYLANDS | Gold 10.20PM

A chance to see this comedy again in back-to-back episodes. Emily attends her estranged father's (Sanjeev Bhaskar) memorial after he's 'lost at sea'. David Walliams and Sophie Thompson are brilliant as the fastidious Mr & Mrs Swallows.

PADDY McGUINNESS... | Comedy Central 11.15PM

The host of ITV's prime-time Saturday-night mega-hit Take Me Out headed out on his third solo stand-up tour across UK arenas back in 2011. If you're a fan, then you'll love this Paddy McGuinness - Saturday Night Live show.

A DEADLY UNION | Channel 4 11.35PM

French fate

Channel 4's 'Walter Presents' strand specialises in the best foreign-language series from around the world, screening them in their native language, with English subtitles. And tonight, we begin a six-part French murder mystery drama (you'll be able to watch the rest of the series on All4 immediately after episode one).

Wedding bells are ringing in the stunning town of Cassis, but celebrations are short-lived when the bride, Sandra, is found dead. Although it seems to be suicide, Sandra's sister Alice believes that something far more sinister is going on. So, she ropes in detective Vincent to investigate, and as the evidence mounts up, dark secrets buried deep within the family begin to emerge...

STACEY DOOLEY INVESTIGATES | BBC2 9PM

Stacey heads to South Korea for her latest investigation, where she delves into the murky world of 'molka'. Pornography is illegal in the country, which has created a demand for an illicit DIY alternative – hidden cameras capture footage of women in their most intimate moments, without their knowledge or consent. And as some cameras are smaller than the head of a needle, it's become increasingly difficult for victims to realise they're being filmed, as videos are streamed live to illegal websites. Stacey meets those who've been affected by this disturbing crime.

BATWOMAN | E4 10.20PM

Batwoman and Luke are on the trail of a serial slasher with the somewhat niche target group of social media influencer-types who have undergone plastic surgery. (Actually, we say that, but there are probably quite a few, right?) Also tonight, Jacob is approached to make good on a previously promised favour; Sophie receives an unexpected visit from her mother, and Alice begins to make her plans for retribution...

CATHERINE COOKSON'S THE CINDER PATH | Drama 1PM

This 1994 drama based on the infamous author's novel boasts an early-doors (albeit post-Darling Buds Of May) role for Catherine Zeta-Jones. In early 20th-century England, young Charlie MacFell clashes with his tyrannical father.

HARROW | Drama 9.20PM

While Grace is busy tonight carrying out an autopsy on the body of a man discovered in an Egyptian sarcophagus (presumably not Tutankhamun), Harrow has got his own problems, as he finds himself in a battle for his life...

MURDER IN THE CAR PARK | Channel 4 9PM

DON'T Miss!

Hold the front page

The second instalment of this true crime drama documentary, examining the unsolved murder of private investigator Daniel Morgan – who was brutally killed with an axe in the car park of a south London pub in 1987 – tonight unearths a link between Daniel's death and the tabloid excesses of the 1990s.

For 33 years, no conviction has been secured in relation to this horrific crime – which was committed without witnesses – despite £30 million being spent on the investigation. But further twists emerge, as tabloid scandals – which prompted the largest public enquiry into press ethics, and drew in senior members of the government – reveal connections to the original suspects in Daniel's murder...

I MAY DESTROY YOU | BBC1 10.55PM

Keep talking

As this powerful series penned by and starring Michaela Coel reaches its half-way point, Terry's unhappy about Arabella joining a support group for rape and sexual assault survivors run by Theodora – who they both knew as kids.

“For Arabella, Theo is offering a practical, grounding form of help – but Terry doesn't completely trust her,” shares Harriet Webb, who plays Theodora. “Quite rightly, Terry is hugely protective of Arabella, so I think it would be weird if she wasn't wary, especially while Arabella's so vulnerable.”

As the episode proceeds with a flashback to 2004, where we meet all three of the girls while still at school, will the basis of Terry's mistrust be unveiled?

BEN FOGLE: NEW LIVES IN THE WILD | Channel 5 9PM

Tonight, Ben Fogle is back to visit a selection of those brave humans who've rejected the rat race in favour of a pioneering new life in some of world's most far-flung and remote locations. So lucky Ben, as he voyages across the Pacific Ocean in order to reunite with Rick. The last time that the pair were in one another's company, the seafarer was located just off the coast of French Polynesia. This time, he's dropped anchor in Fiji – and has plenty of news for Ben to catch up on. But as Rick reveals that he's now sailing solo, is he still embracing his new-found freedom?

INSECURE | Sky Comedy 9PM

The critically acclaimed comedy is back for a fourth season, with Issa and Molly continuing to traverse the tricky terrain that is Los Angeles. With a little help from Condola, Issa prepares for a social event at her place to pitch to potential sponsors – but tension quickly mounts when they discover a mutual connection. Meanwhile, Molly finds herself developing feelings for Andrew...

9-1-1 | Sky Witness 9PM

Athena and the 118 respond to a catalogue of creepy calls tonight, including reports of a wandering ghost-like girl, and a flock of unruly crows (collective noun: a murder, appropriately enough). Well, it is Halloween, after all...

BETTY | Sky Comedy 9.35PM

It's an episode chock-full of conundrums tonight – things like, why do rich girls want broke-girl problems? When will Honeybear stop avoiding her crush? And is Janay sure that this is how she wants to spend her birthday?

THE GREAT BRITISH SEWING BEE | BBC1 9PM

Sewing 24-7

Here's the very definition of a success story. After becoming one of the most-watched shows on BBC2, this sixth series of The Great British Sewing Bee has graduated to BBC1, where it's been entertaining six million viewers every week. Comedian Joe Lycett has proved a very popular successor to Claudia Winkleman, despite concerns that he's a little bit too naughty. "I appreciate the feedback," he tweeted, after Ofcom received six complaints. "I try not to do innuendo, but it's so hard. OMG, it's getting harder..."

Tonight, it's grand-final time, with just three contestants left, all hoping to be named Britain's best sewer. We can't yet reveal who's made it this far, but we wish everyone luck!

GEORGE CLARKE'S AMAZING SPACES | Channel 4 9PM

Regional variations

There's only one explanation for George's amazing powers – he must be a Time Lord. How else do we account for the fact that he can turn a garden shed into a three-room haven for a family of four? It's clearly far bigger on the inside than it is on the outside, so there must be some sort of jiggery-pokery going on. "It's not just about transforming spaces," shares George, as he sets about his latest task. "Some projects are about transforming lives." And as he heads to Beaconsfield tonight, he's set to put smiles on the faces of Marian and Bill, and their two daughters, Bea and Tilly. Heartwarming stuff.

100 EMBARRASSING DADS | 5STAR 9PM

Hot on the heels of Father's Day, here's a lovely way to celebrate the job of dads everywhere: to embarrass their offspring. This one-off looks at paternal pratfalls found on the internet or in news stories from around the globe. There are even a few celebrity pops leaving their kids wishing that the ground would swallow them up, as well as some toe-curling examples of dad-dancing.

GREY'S ANATOMY | Sky Witness 9PM

A wealthy inventor arrives at Grey Sloan asking Koracick for help. Meanwhile, Meredith tries to deal with a diabetic who has been rationing her insulin, and Jo and Link fight to save the life of a young man who fell onto train tracks...

STUMPTOWN | Alibi 9PM

Dex goes undercover as a teacher (presumably in an actual school, rather than via Zoom) after an old classmate asks her to find out who planted drugs on her daughter. Also, things between Dex and Liz get a bit too close for comfort.

THE SCHOOL THAT TRIED TO END RACISM | Channel 4 9PM

Jeux sans frontières

This ground-breaking series explores how racial bias can affect us all – and what we can do to tackle it. We follow a class of 11- to 12-year-olds as they take part in a series of activities designed to challenge what they thought they know about race. The pupils must confront some difficult truths as they open up about their own, and others', attitudes.

First up, the students are split into different work groups according to their skin colour, and a white British student and his black Caribbean best mate are shocked to discover the level of unconscious prejudice they carry. After being tested for racial bias at both the start and the end of the course, will the students be changed by their experience?

REMARKABLE PLACES TO EAT | BBC2 8PM

Regional variations

This preview comes with an Inside TV health warning: you may gain about 12 stone by just looking at the goods in tonight's programme. Fred's in Vienna tonight, being shown the sights by top food writer and broadcaster Rachel Khoo, to nosh quintessential Viennese fare: cake. The Austrian capital's coffee-house culture – officially UNESCO-recognised, if you don't mind – is perhaps best demonstrated in the area of Michaelerplatz, with more than 830 cafes to choose from. Fred and Rachel step up to the plate (ha) in the city's iconic Demel's kitchen, where everything is delicately made by hand.

JAMIE'S QUICK & EASY FOOD | Channel 4 8PM

Super-fast food

If long and complicated recipes aren't your thing, you'll be glad to know that Jamie's back with another series of the cookery show in which he keeps things simple. Lacking in time and/or energy doesn't mean our meals have to be half-baked (or should that be half-cooked?), as Jamie unveils another delicious collection of dishes using just five ingredients.

On the menu tonight is a foolproof aromatic lamb curry, harissa squash salad, rosé pesto prawn pasta, and Buddy's unforgettable flapjack biscuits – all delivering maximum flavour in minimum time. Whether you're a kitchen whizz or a culinary cautionary, Jamie's time-saving tips will have you cooking up a storm, quick-smart...

In the dog's house

CELEBRITY SNOOP DOGS | Channel 4 8.30PM

This celebrity property show comes with a crackers canine twist – it's their furry friends who'll be providing a nosey around their famous owners' fancy abodes, while we attempt to work out: whose dog lives in a house like this? The pups are kitted out with special mounted cameras, so as they trot about their top-notch territory, we'll get a dog's-eye view. Grand Designs guru Kevin McCloud provides commentary on all that we spy – architecture, questionable soft furnishings, epic shoe collections... Tonight, we go walkies with a leisurely Lhasa apso – but which star's home do they inhabit?

RANSOM | 5USA 9PM

Season three wraps up tonight, although not before Eric and the Crisis Resolution team handles one more super-tense situation, of course. With Cynthia's brother, Tyler, having fallen in with the wrong crowd, not to mention with a debt remaining unpaid, both he and his sister are taken hostage. That leaves it to Eric and the gang to save them – even if that means going off-script in a pretty major way...

MIRROR MIRROR | BBC Scotland 10.30PM

Not a tribute to the 1981 Dollar hit, rather a sneak peek at conversations taking place in Scotland's hairdressers, salons and make-up studios, filmed by a camera hidden behind a mirror, Big Brother-style, to hear folk's stories and views.

MANIFEST | Sky One 9PM

As the clock continues to creepily tick towards his death date, Zeke is forced to face his past, while Saanvi tries his best to secure Zeke's future. Elsewhere, a pair of connected callings lead Ben and TJ to a surprising loved one...

The HOT list

GREAT THINGS TO WATCH, READ AND DO IN THE WEEK AHEAD...

BIRDS OF PREY

When Gotham's most narcissistic villain Roman Sionis and his right-hand man Zsasz put a target on a young girl named Cass, the city is turned upside down. Meanwhile, Harley Quinn is on the run and faces Roman's wrath – so when her path collides with Huntress, Black Canary and Renee Montoya, the unlikely foursome unite to bring down him down! Available to buy and rent, and starring ex-Neighbours star Margot Robbie (Donna Freedman).

DVD QUIZ

Former Army major Charles Ingram unexpectedly beat the odds by winning the one-million-pound jackpot on Who Wants To Be A Millionaire? in 2001. But following the win, Charles and his wife Diana were accused of cheating...

BOOK A SHOOTING AT CHATEAU ROCK

by Martin Walker

When a local's troubling death is linked to a powerful Russian, Bruno faces one of his toughest cases to date. It's an investigation that brings together a French notary, a rock star – and, of course, Bergerac red and white.

STAR CHOICE

Summer Bay's Ada Nicodemou (Leah)

"I'm reading Boy Swallows Universe by Trent Dalton at the moment. It's a coming-of-age book set in Brisbane, and it's so well written. The minute you pick it up, you can't put it down. And I've also just downloaded [online education platform] Masterclass – I thought I might teach myself something while I can't do anything else..."

DVD SAVE ME TOO

Nelly's daughter Jody has gone missing, and he'll stop at nothing to find her. Can Grace, who he helped to rescue from a crime gang, offer any clues to Jody's current whereabouts? Starring Lennie James, Stephen Graham, Suranne Jones and Ade Edmonson.

ALBUM

GOING THE DISTANCE

Britain's Got Talent 2012 finalist Jonathan Antoine is back with a brand-new album! With a collection of Disney songs, as well as classics such as Moon River, Country Roads and Can You Feel The Love Tonight, this is a truly epic musical journey.

Next issue...

EMMERDALE

Kim vs Andrea!

WHO WILL WIN THE BATTLE OF THE TATE WOMEN?

YOUR NEXT ISSUE ON SALE TUESDAY 23 JUNE

Next week's Emmerdale picks up where it left off three weeks ago, with Andrea holed up in a B&B – and cheating Jamie desperate to locate his missing daughter Millie! But while he's going out of his mind with worry, cunning Kim is pulling out all the stops to find her scheming daughter-in-law, and drag her back to the village kicking and screaming! So will the queen of Home Farm be victorious once again? Or will Andrea prove that she's every inch a Tate, and outwit Kim once and for all?

CORRIE

Stuck in a rut!

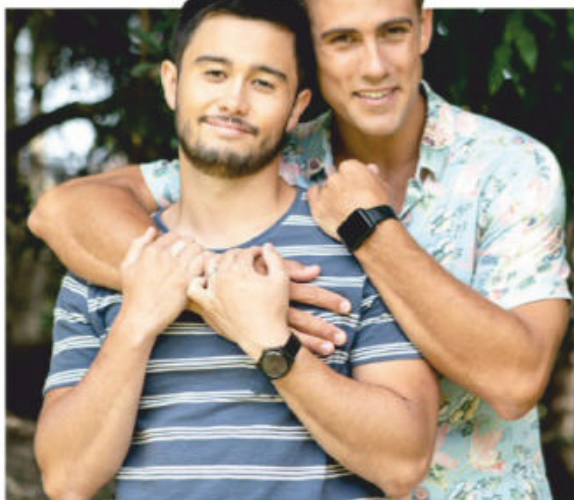

Fiz and Tyrone come to a startling realisation next week – they're turning into the new Jack and Vera! But as they contemplate how routine their lives have become, what can they do to spice it up?

NEIGHBOURS

Dads at last!

There's exciting news for David and Aaron next week, when they find out they're finally getting a foster child! However, their new charge isn't quite what they expected...

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

"Would you like to do some of this jigsaw?"
"No, I'm afraid we're not allowed to sit together on the sofa."

The new Aadi Alahan is really well cast. He has the same cocky swagger as his dad.

BULLSEYE!

With Phil and Sharon seemingly over for good, who else is hoping for Phil and Shirley running the Vic together? But a word of caution... Now that Phil has dismissed Kayden as 'that thing', and thrown both baby and his mother out on the street – while reminding her how much it hurts to lose something you love – soap law dictates that the baby will turn out to be Phil's in the end!

"As you get older, you realise no one really likes you..."
Yasmeen's speech about how she now sees herself, after Geoff broke her, was such a distressing, powerful scene.

Oh! You stink.
He certainly does, Chantelle.

It's still the depths of winter in EastEnders – brr! We'll welcome a warming 'time jump' to summer when they return to these storylines!

This Week's Hot Trend... Distractedly reading a book upside down – just like nobody has ever done in real life.

Nice to see Dev using the Corrie-only search engine 'VOGGLE'. Though it should be 'COBBLE'.

Cain said Aaron looked like a Weetabix with his new haircut. We can't see it ourselves.

This week, Phil had a bruise in the exact same place on his head in both Classic EastEnders (from 1995) and current EastEnders. 25 years and still a clumsy clot!

We can totally see why Mercedes would shack up with Sylver again. You don't get many of them to the pound.

When Karen first arrived in Walford and punched Sharon in the gob...

Who could possibly have guessed where it would all end up?

Poor Carla. You wait a year for a storyline, and then two come along at once.
